"Age cannot stale, nor creeping years impair
Stout hearts as ours, nor make our strength decay.
Our hoary heads the heavy helmet bear.
Our joy is in the foray, day by day!"

It is said that Irving Berlin's new love song is a symphony in a flat.

Doubtless Congress will long hesitate to write into any statute a clause which would prevent the United States government from using the injunction to protect the American people from the calamity of a nation-wide railroad strike, that might paralyze transportation and strangle distribution of the necessities of life—as it did recently! Today's lesson in the anthracite fields teaches that we are helpless enough without any more shackles, but is Labor ready to extend this same privilege to Capital?

It didn't need a political abnegation from Charles E. Hughes to leave the New York gubernatorial field pretty clear for young T. R. again.

Iowa demands Federal aid in increasing the use of its famous product so it looks as though it were up to Uncle Sam to devise a system for extracting gasoline from corn.

With Maj. Gen. Cheatham, Quartermaster General of the army, the country gains the services of a versatile Southern Yankee who, in an emergency can equip an army with one hand and command it in action with the other.

Just as Morris Hacker is all dressed up with his new plows, and graders and flusers, along comes a snowstorm, and yet some militarists would try to convince the pacifists that preparedness doesn't cause war.

Girls, if you love me, tell me so."

There's going to be some ground and lofty fiddling on the air to-night. The revival of the cornstalk fiddle might help solve Iowa's problem.

The House committee that turned down the proposal to investigate coffee probably couldn't see the grounds.

LESS TRAFFIC RULES INDICATED BY VOTE OF COMMISSIONERS

Rudolph and Bell Quash Proposed All-Night Parking Ban.

PEDESTRIAN CONTROL PLAN BELIEVED DEAD

Hesse Discloses Department Made 3,274 Arrests of Autoists in December.

Washington has reached the peak of its pyramid of traffic regulations and the tendency hereafter will be for fewer, rather than more, rules.

This was reliably reported to be the situation following the semi-weekly meeting of the District board of commissioners, which repudiated Commissioner Frederick A. Penning's proposal to abolish all-night parking.

All three of the commissioners were noncommittal after the meeting. But it was learned Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph and J. Franklin Bell not only quashed the parking ban, without even a reading of the text of the regulation, but they also indicated that as the pedestrian control rule had been declared null and void by Judge John P. McMahon, no attempt would be made to appeal from his ruling or to re-pass it in such manner as to overcome his legal objection.

Rules Held Too Numerous. From a source close to the commissioners it was learned that both Rudolph and Bell informed their colleague that the District was amassing too many regulations, especially with reference to traffic.

The plan finally worked out by Commissioner Penning was as outlined in The Post Thursday morning. It provided that no car should park for more than four hours between 1 and 8 a. m. any day. It was to have taken effect, if passed, July 1.

Police statistics of traffic arrests and accidents during the month of December were made public yesterday. In view of attacks made on his department, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, compiled a summary of the figures on arrests and sent it to Commissioner Penning.

The total number of traffic arrests was 3,274, of which 407 were for speeding, 1,137 were for parking violations, 465 for headlight offenses, 154 for reckless driving and 75 for driving while drunk. Policemen of the First precinct made $56 of the arrests.

Fourteen persons were killed in traffic accidents in December, as compared with eleven the year before. Serious injuries were inflicted on 23 and minor ones on 278 persons. There were 774 accidents reported in all, 439 of which resulted in property damage.

Rosenwald Is Ahead $6,750,000 on Option

Chicago, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—The Chicago Daily News today says Julius Rosenwald has reaped a paper profit of approximately $6,750,000 by exercising an option to repurchase at par 50,000 shares of stock he donated to Sears, Roebuck & Co. in 1921 to make possible continued payments of preferred dividends. He is chairman of the board of the company.

Besides his stock donation, the famous philanthropist aided the company by purchasing certain of its real estate for $16,000,000, making a first payment of $4,000,000 in cash and liberty bonds, says the Daily News.

Paris Believed Saved From Flood Disaster

Paris, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Paris is saved from a flood catastrophe, in the opinion of an official of the ministry of public works after an extensive survey of the flooded areas, but the damage to property will amount to something like $100,000,000 francs (approximately $17,500,000 at the present rate of exchange).

COL. CHEATHAM NAMED QUARTERMASTER CHIEF

Davis, in Announcing Appointment, Calls Him the Logical Choice.

COL. KENNEDY PROMOTED

Col. B. Frank Cheatham, executive officer in the office of the Assistant Secretary of War, yesterday was named by Secretary of War Davis to be quartermaster general of the army in the place of Maj. Gen. William H. Hart, recently deceased. He will have the rank of major general.

At the same time Secretary Davis announced that he had selected Col. James M. Kennedy, medical corps, to be assistant surgeon general of the army with the rank of brigadier general to succeed Brig. Gen. James D. Glennan, who will be retired on March 2, because of age.

In announcing Col. Cheatham's selection Secretary Davis said he was the logical choice for the office. He is thoroughly acquainted with the details of the quartermaster's duties, the policies of the general staff and the command of troops.

He is a graduate of all the service schools and although he has not attended the Industrial War college his experience in assisting the organization of that school was the equivalent of a course. He was quartermaster of the advanced section of the service of supplies and later commanded the One hundred and fourth infantry, Twenty-sixth division, overseas. He was awarded the distinguished service medal. He is a native of Beech Grove, Tenn., and entered the army in the Spanish-American war.

Col. Kennedy, a native of Abbeville, S. C., is commanding officer of Letterman General hospital, San Francisco. He was surgeon of the port of embarkation, Hoboken, N. J., in the war and was awarded the distinguished service medal and the navy cross.

WOMAN'S DEAD BODY SITS 3 DAYS IN HOME

Mrs. Kate Jenkins, 80, Found by Her Daughter in House With Doors Locked.

Mrs. Kate Jenkins, 80 years old, yesterday was found dead in her home, 1316 Thirty-fourth street northwest, where she had lived alone since the death of her husband four years ago. She is believed to have died Tuesday night from the infirmities of old age.

She was seated in front of the kitchen stove, in which the fire had died, her feet in slippers resting in the oven, while a shawl was wrapped about her shoulders and head. She was found by her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Taylor, 1411 Thirty-sixth street northwest, who had been summoned by Mrs. Rosanna Schumbert, 1314 Thirty-fourth street northwest, a friend of her mother, who had become worried because she had not seen her since Tuesday.

Entrance to the locked home was gained through a window by George Taylor, 15-year-old grandson of Mrs. Jenkins. Lieut. William Hesse, of the Seventh police precinct, sent the body to the Georgetown University hospital, where Dr. J. F. Rogers checked her dead.

Youth and Mother Indicted as Slayings

Wauseon, Ohio, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Clotus Wanner, 16, and his mother, Mrs. Laura Wanner, were jointly indicted for manslaughter today by the Fulton county grand jury. The indictment was the result of the death of the father and husband, Lawrence Wanner, 40, during a family quarrel. He was choked to death.

GOV. RITCHIE CALLS FOR RESTORATION OF CIVIL LIBERTIES

Tells Iroquois Club of Chicago Rights Have Been Done Away.

WOULD HAVE POWERS RETURNED TO STATES

In Democratic Broadside, He Assails Centralization of U. S. Government.

Chicago, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—The second Democratic broadside was fired here preliminary to the next presidential campaign at the Iroquois club's Jackson day dinner tonight, when Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, said in an address that the preservation of liberty transcended such questions as the world court, tariff or disarmament. Gov. Albert Smith, of New York, fired the opening shot in the preliminary skirmishing here early last fall.

Decentralization of the Federal government and restitution of the States of inherent rights was the theme of Gov. Ritchie's address. "A Democratic anniversary such as this calls for a Democratic message in the language of Democrats," he said.

"It concerns the conflict between the rights of the individual citizen and the powers of the government and the place and function of local government as contrasted with national government."

He deprecated overcentralization in the Federal government as the "instrument of 'leagues,' 'groups,' 'militant minorities.'" He referred to adoption of the Bill of Rights, as marking the first political activity of that element in the nation, "which to this day constitutes the Democratic party."

Sees Five Immunities Lost.

He listed five of the ten amendments "essential to personal liberty" as destroyed; the right of free speech and of peaceful assembly; the guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizure; the guarantee against double jeopardy and against compulsion to be witness against one's self in a criminal case; the right to a jury trial in the State or district where the crime was committed, and the reservation to the States of all powers not delegated to the United States and not prohibited to the States.

"Thus five of the principal immunities guaranteed by the Bill of Rights have been stricken down one by one, with the result that people everywhere are in revolt against the increasing extravagances of Federal regulation and subject to control by a bureau at Washington and constant invasion by some Federal agent, investigator or inspector."

"There are other issues, but none affects the preservation of liberty so much as the proper distribution and exercise of power between the States and the Union," he asserted.

"Certainly it far transcends any question of State rights, historically or in the abstract, or even such questions as the tariff, the world court, the income tax, disarmament, the air service, Muscle Shoals and the like."

"They must be particularly apparent when a Republican President discovers that what is needed is a return to Democratic doctrine, and with all the fervor and zeal of a new convert, declares for the rights of the States."

"However, let us give the President credit for seeing the dangers of too much centralization and of recognizing the cure."

"His view of prohibition is that until the sentiment of the country enables a change in the eighteenth amendment, the subject should be turned back by Congress to the States, and each State, within constitutional limitations, given the right and the responsibility of settling it in accordance with the will of its own people."

"So long as it exists, it should, of course, be upheld and respected, but just as good citizens in the South feel that refusal to obey the fifteenth amendment involves no real issue and is no violation of their individual conscience, so do many feel about the eighteenth amendment."

"The farmers, more than any one else, should favor a strong local government, because they, more

Passenger in Plane Sees Hand Wave, Tries to Leap

Mistaking a wave of the hand as an order to jump, William Bent, of this city, yesterday attempted to leap from an airplane circling over Washington.

He was a passenger in a plane bound from the Capital to Cumberland, Md., when the misunderstanding occurred. Before leaving the aviation field, he had been warned by the pilot to beware of accidents. A parachute was fastened to him. "If I wave my hand," said the pilot, "it means that the machine is in danger, and you must save yourself by jumping."

As the plane flew over Washington the pilot remembered he had forgotten to say good-by to his family. To correct this oversight, he descended to within a few hundred feet of his home and caused the machine to fly in a series of circles. Meanwhile, he waved his hand energetically. As he turned to see if his passenger was secure he was horrified to observe the latter with one leg thrown over the seat, about to leap. He was barely able to keep him in the plane.

SNOW BLANKETS CITY; SLEDDING IS ASSURED

There Should Be 3 Inches of It, Forecaster Says; Freezing Temperature.

EXPECT SKATING TODAY

As a climax to a period of unusually capricious weather, the heaviest snow of the season descended on the National Capital last night. Its arrival completed a cycle that began with near-zero weather, turned into weather 40 or more degrees above, and which saw one of the worst fogs in the city's history.

There should be 3 inches of snow on the ground when the precipitation is halted this morning, according to Forecaster Weightman. The temperature, he said, would hover around the freezing point.

Sledding is assured for today, the forecaster said. Ice skaters appeared on the Lincoln Memorial pool yesterday, and, unless the snow interferes, there will be skating again today.

Morris Hacker, superintendent of city refuse, put his new system of snow removal to work last night. Snow-cleaning apparatus was used on 28 streets, 17 of which have car tracks. The apparatus includes twelve snow plows, three one-man graders and two flushers.

Street cars were kept running all night on several lines to keep the tracks clear.

Mrs. Sophie Brendon, 51 years old, residing at 1459 N street northwest, was the first accident victim of the snow, falling on the sidewalk at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, breaking her leg.

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO CRASH IN SNOWSTORM

Mrs. Kate Quirk May Die; Driver, Blinded, Drives Car Into Pole.

Four persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile in which they were returning to Washington early this morning from Benedict, Md., crashed into a telegraph pole and overturned shortly after they left the Maryland town.

Mrs. Kate Quirk, 42 years old, suffered a fractured skull, from which she may die, according to physicians at Casualty hospital, where she was taken, with the other members of the party, by Dr. Charles R. King, 2015 Nichols avenue southeast, who was passing in his automobile. Her husband, Ross Quirk, 45 years old, was badly cut and bruised; Miss Frances Windsor, 17 years old, was cut and bruised, and her brother, Richard Windsor, 21 years old, was bruised and cut and had his nose broken.

Richard Windsor was driving the automobile and was blinded by the snow, occupants of the car said. All of the party live at 1800 P street southeast.

Hughes Not to Enter Governorship Race

New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Charles Evans Hughes, former Secretary of State, has informed Republican party leaders that he will not consider any plan to make him the next Republican nominee for governor. He was suggested recently as the only Republican strong enough to oppose Gov. Smith, should the governor decide to run again.

SENATE DEMOCRATS DROP PARTY BATTLE FOR TAX PUBLICITY

Minority Would Reduce Levies by Additional $70,000,000.

REVISION TO BE ASKED OF SURTAX FEATURES

Repeal of Auto, Admission and Corporation Rates May Be Urged.

(By the Associated Press.) Senate Democrats decided yesterday not to conduct a party fight for continuation of publicity of income tax returns, repeal of which is provided for in the House revenue bill, now before the Senate finance committee.

The Democratic members of the committee, under the leadership of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, did agree, however, on a program of tax reduction, which they will propose as a substitute for that written into the bill by the House.

The substitute schedules, which are to be completed at a final conference today, will call for tax reduction amounting to more than $400,000,000 this year. It was indicated, or at least $70,000,000 more than provided by the House measure, which has been endorsed in general by Secretary Mellon and the administration.

Would Repeal Levies.

In their program for greater tax reduction, the Democrats are expected to propose repeal of the automobile, admission and numerous other miscellaneous taxes not touched by the House, and a slight reduction in the corporation tax.

There are indications also that the Democrats will seek revision of the income surtax and inheritance tax schedules in the bill to increase the maximum rates of each from the 20 per cent to at least 25 per cent, but will be satisfied with the increases voted by the House in the personal exemptions from income taxes. It is also doubtful that they will propose any change in the normal income tax rates, which the House bill cuts from 2 to 1 1/2 per cent on the first $4,000 taxable income, from 4 to 3 per cent on the next $4,000, and from 6 to 5 per cent on the remainder.

Senate Republicans, who are expected to follow the lead of Secretary Mellon in supporting the non-partisan measure passed by the House, have a majority of 10 to 7 in the finance committee, which must first pass on terms of the bill. Republicans also have a clear majority in the Senate, but switches to support the Democratic program like those of the insurgents two years ago probably would put it in the bill.

The publicity provision was written into the law two years ago by votes of Democrats and Republican insurgents. It was proposed then by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, and he has served notice he will fight terms of the House bill proposing its repeal.

Several Democrats who supported the publicity provision two years ago have announced a change in their views, and conferences of the Democratic members of the finance committee developed enough sentiment against it to forestall its incorporation in the party program.

Hearing Resumed Today. Senator King, of Utah, a Democratic member of the committee, introduced amendments yesterday proposing reduction of the corporation tax from 12 1/2 per cent to 10 per cent and repeal of the levies on automobiles, admissions, capital stocks and custom house entries and withdrawals.

The committee will resume its hearings today, after a recess of two days to give the Democrats opportunity to whip their program into shape. Senator Simmons announced he would present the minority proposals to the committee Monday.

Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, asked the Democrats to present their program in committee so that it might be considered there.

QUAKES ROCK TUSCANY; VESUVIUS MORE ACTIVE

Hundreds of Homes Are Damaged; Residents Flee in Terror; Score Injured.

LAVA FLOW IS VIOLENT

Rome, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—A violent earthquake which shook Tuscany for 12 seconds, causing casualties and property damage, and a renewal of portentous activity in Mount Vesuvius, marked a reawakening of Italy's seismic and volcanic forces today.

Both these phenomena are believed to be results of the same mysterious subterranean forces which during the past ten days in various parts of the country have caused panic-stricken crowds to flee as the earth trembled or the famous volcano belched angrily.

The earthquake in Tuscany centered in the region around Monte Amiata, and resulted in minor injuries to a score of persons and damage to several hundred peasant houses. The first shock was felt at 10:15 a. m., and this was followed by a temblor of smaller intensity. The quake inspired widespread terror, driving the inhabitants of several villages from their homes.

The towns suffering most were Abbadia and San Salvatore, the center of the mercury mining district, where all the houses were damaged. Most of the damage took the form of crumbling masonry and warped boards.

The Tuscan temblor followed a series of shocks which have been felt in recent days in districts as far separate as the southern tip of Calabria and the northern frontier of Yugoslavia. Tuscany had not been shaken until today, when smaller quakes and minor tremblings were also reported from Campania.

TOWNS DESTROYED BY MEXICAN FLOOD

42 Inches of Rain Falls in 36 Hours; Heavy Loss of Life in Nayarit State.

Mexico City, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—There has been heavy loss of life and several towns have been destroyed by floods in the state of Nayarit, according to the first official news from the flooded area. The port of San Blas has suffered considerably.

This information is contained in a dispatch received tonight by Deputy Romero Gallardo.

Nogales, Ariz., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Torrential rains in the state of Nayarit, Mexico, have caused a property loss of several million pesos, but the loss of life has not been great, advisers here today said.

Forty-two inches of rain fell in a 36-hour period in Nayarit, causing all the rivers to break over their banks, the reports asserted.

Russian Short Skirts Due to Lack of Cloth

Moscow, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Short skirts are coming into Russia for the first time, not because Russian women want to be fashionable, for fashions scarcely exist here, but because of the scarcity and costliness of dress material. The state textile mills have been unable to meet the demand, and good serge costs $3 a yard, and other goods are in proportion. Silks, satins and crepe de chine are luxuries. Russian women now are making their skirts with a minimum of cloth, seldom more than a yard and a quarter. The skirts barely touch the knees and remind one of Scottish "kilties" in length if not in color.

INDIAN DEATH PLOT TO ASTOUND NATION, U. S. OFFICIAL SAYS

17 Dead in $2,000,000 Conspiracy, Is Charge After Inquiry.

REAL TERROR REIGN AMONG OSAGES TOLD

Federal Grand Jury Receives Evidence; Tribe Members Receiving Whisky.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 8 (By A. P.). The battered skull of Anna Brown, first victim of an alleged ring in the Osage county, was taken today before the United States grand jury. Simultaneously, it was announced by Edwin Brown, Assistant United States Attorney General, who is in charge of the grand jury, that liquor is being given Indians brought from their restricted lands to tell what they know of the death shadow that seemingly has hovered over some of their people.

The grand jury is trying to determine the truth of rumors long forming that a powerful conspiracy to obtain Indian money to the extent of about $2,000,000 was responsible for a series of seventeen deaths.

No arrests have been made on charges of intoxication among witnesses, Mr. Brown said, but several Osages have been under the influence of liquor and it is feared their testimony might be affected.

United States Claims Jurisdiction.

Mr. Brown has requested Federal agents to keep a sharp lookout for liquor and to arrest anyone responsible for distributing it among the Indians.

Mr. Brown said that the government has decided it has jurisdiction in several of the killings, and that its inquiry has been widened to include murder charges as well as those of conspiracy against wards of the United States, which was the original scope of the grand jury action.

The government's investigation has revealed a condition that will astound the nation when the details are known, it was declared by Mr. Brown.

"Before this probe is completed the entire United States will be astounded by the revelations," he said. "Nothing so far-reaching in murders has ever before been revealed."

Real Reign of Terror.

Mr. Brown said that so real a reign of terror in Osage country as a result of the death of nearly a score of persons that when he went there several months ago to begin a preliminary investigation he found the homes of many Osages surrounded by strings of brilliant electric lights that burned constantly through the night.

"I believe there will be forever a closed season against the Osages when this case is terminated," O. R. Lühring told the Associated Press. Mr. Lühring is in charge of the criminal division of the Department of Justice in Washington.

$50,000,000 ASKED FOR BUILDINGS HERE IN 2 CLASHING BILLS

Measures Indicate District Program Is Certain to Be Preserved.

STATION PLAZA FAVORED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Smoot Has Resolution to Care for City in the Event Others Fail.

That a $50,000,000 District building program will be preserved in the event the Senate committee report is considered by Congress was indicated yesterday by the introduction by Representative Busby, Mississippi, of an omnibus bill involving an outlay of $187,000,000.

At the same time the bill looking to the raising of the government hotels and construction of a plaza between the Capitol and Union station was advanced a step further when the Senate public buildings and grounds committee reported it favorably. It would reappropriate the balance of the original fund set aside for this work and authorize the carrying on of the project.

Mr. Busby's measure specifies projects in approximately 325 cities and towns, but it also specifies that $50,000,000 shall be devoted to relieving congestion in government departments here, the money to be spread over a five-year period.

Battle Is Expected.

That the administration's bill appropriating $165,000,000 for general buildings to be expended at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury and Postmaster General, $50,000,000 in the District, was to be battled by sponsors of building projects in their particular communities, has been indicated for some time.

This measure is to be considered by the House buildings and grounds committee for the second time today with indications that it will be favorably reported to the House. Its companion measure was discussed informally by the Senate public buildings and grounds committee yesterday and favorable report withheld only at the instance of Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who suggested that its wording be changed to make sure that the various States will receive equality of treatment in the expenditure of the $115,000,000. His suggestion does not apply to the District's $50,000,000 share.

Fernald Approves Program.

Besides these two bills bearing on District building, Senator Smoot, of Utah, has one in committee dealing with the District alone. As long as the administration measures move along smoothly, however, he does not intend to press it.

Senator Fernald, chairman of the Senate committee, pointed out that there are more than 700 postoffice bills pending and that they included in the majority of instances projects of long-standing need. He urged the favorable treatment of the general program as the best method of dealing with the building situation.

YOUTH NIGHT IS HELD AT HAMLINE CHURCH

Senator Fess and Dean Woods Address Closing Service of Dedication Week.

Hamline Methodist Episcopal church will help solve the youth problem, in the opinion of Senator Fess, of Ohio, and Dean Grove H. Woods, American university speaker, last night at the closing service of its dedication week. It was "Young People's Night."

"This splendid edifice will not serve its purpose merely by having fine appointments," said Senator Fess. "It will be in the spiritual values that are promulgated within it, for it is these that will live for all time."

"Youth and the Church," was Dean Woods' theme. Youth thinks offhand that the church is intolerant and dictatorial; that its progress has been slow; that it is too much interested in promoting denominationalism, he said, while the church thinks offhand that youth is intolerant, often material, on the defensive, always seeking justification of what it does. Youth and the church, however, are the two forces which, if rightfully directed, will turn the world upside down for good, he declared.

Joe Judge Driving Car That Injures Man

Salvador Maucari, 27 years old, 233 E street northwest, was struck and slightly injured last night by an automobile driven by Joe Judge, first baseman, of the Washington American league baseball team, on Woodley road, near Connecticut avenue.

After taking the injured man to Garfield hospital, where he was treated for slight bruises and later taken to his home, Judge reported the accident to the police of the Fourteenth precinct. Maucari, he said, ran in front of his automobile from behind a motor bus. The same story was told by "Dutch" Reuther, Washington pitcher, who was riding with the first baseman. The pitcher lives in Wardman Park hotel, and Judge lives at 711 Allison street northwest.

PERSONNEL BOARD WILL MEET DAILY TO HEAR APPEALS

New Procedure to Be Started Monday; 650 Cases Are Pending.

CLERK IS GIVEN RIGHT TO APPEAR IN PERSON

Members Apparently Unmoved by Dr. E. C. Stowell's Court Move.

For the first time since its institution, the Personnel Classification board will start Monday to meet daily to hear appeals from class allocations and will begin then to hear appeals under its "new procedure."

This action was determined upon by the board as a means of catching up with its docket of appeal upon which approximately 650 cases have piled up while other duties demanded the attention of board members. Now it has decided that it will meet every morning, as regularly as a court, and to hear as many cases as it can each day.

Heretofore the board has had the appellants before it, but they appeared at the request of the board. Beginning Monday the "new procedure" which gives the clerk the right to appear in person before the board for hearing, a right he must waive in writing, will be applied in full vigor. This procedure is believed by the board to represent the greatest concession that can be made to clerks in the matter of appeals from allocations under the classification act.

Only Seven Cases Heard.

At the beginning of last week there were 626 appeals before the board for action. Meeting on its old plan, whenever it was convenient for all three members to drop their work in their several departments, the board was able to hear but seven cases, four of which it allowed, and three of which it denied. In the meantime, however, fourteen cases were received, and at the end of the week 633 cases remained on the docket. These have since been added to.

The board apparently is undisturbed by the determination of Dr. Ellery C. Stowell, of the Civil Service league to obtain a writ of mandamus to cause the board to produce minutes which it refused to let him see. F. J. Bailey, president of the board, refused to comment upon the situation.

WISCONSIN AVENUE'S CONDITION ASSAILED

Northwest Suburban Citizens Association Says It Is Unfit for Gateway.

The unsightly condition of Wisconsin avenue would ruin the effect of the proposed gateway leading into Washington by the avenue at the District line, according to members attending a meeting last night of the Northwest Suburban Citizens association in the Janney school. The District commissioners will be called upon by the association to improve this highway immediately.

"It would be a waste of money," said A. P. Seiler, "for the fine arts commission to erect a gateway to the highway, while Wisconsin avenue is in its present state of disrepair."

A street carnival will be held under the auspices of the association in May, according to plans adopted last night. The association will take this step to show its appreciation of the many improvements in this section, according to Mr. Seiler. L. L. Derrick presided at the meeting.

Crowded Condition Of Jail Criticized

The grand jury, reporting yesterday to the District board of commissioners, criticized the crowded condition of the District jail.

It asserted that two or three times the number of prisoners for which the building was designed are accommodated there, and 10,000 inmates are provided annually with food and lodging on less money than was granted for 3,000 five years ago.

Arrested last night by Detectives Ira Keck and Bernard W. Thompson, Samuel J. Jones, colored, 57 years old, known to police as "the paperhanger," 234 1/2 Eleventh street southeast, is being detained by police in connection with the passing of alleged worthless checks.

Jones, taken into custody at Fourteenth and U. streets northwest, denied being known as Henry James, J. W. Bayne, H. W. Johnson, W. H. Hawkins or W. H. Scott, which police allege are his aliases. CLARENCE MACKAY DISOWNS DAUGHTER, MARRIED TO BERLIN

Caused Withdrawal of Her Invitation to Vanderbilt Wedding, It Is Said.

NEWLYWEDS EXPECTED TO SAIL ON LINER TODAY

Elude Reporters and Inspect Suite They Have Reserved on the Leviathan.

Special to The Washington Post.
New York, Jan. 8. (By A. P.)—Breaking his silence for the first time since his daughter's marriage, Clarence H. Mackay today authorized the statement that he has disowned his daughter, Ellen, the bride of Irving Berlin, wealthy song writer.
After waiting five days for his daughter to reconsider her hasty marriage to the elder Mackay, he finally despaired of her forsaking her composer-husband and returning home. While no ultimatum, so far as could be learned, was served upon Ellen by her father, she was fully aware of his intense opposition to her marriage. She had been told that to cling to her husband might cost her the companionship of her father and her share of his many millions.
And if she wanted more direct proof of her father's unrelenting attitude she got it yesterday when, through her father's influence, invitations to attend the wedding of Consuelo Vanderbilt, it is said, at the last minute were withdrawn, so that father and daughter would not meet at that high society function, which Mackay attended while Mrs. Berlin passed the day in her husband's apartment in West Forty-sixth street.
Then, under cover of night, the couple made a strategic dash for a

Sorority Council Hopes To Eliminate 'Stag Line'

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—The "Stag Line" at college sorority dances is to be eliminated if the National Pan-Hellenic congress has its way. The congress, which started the final sessions of its five-day meeting here today, voted to restrict the number of men who attend without partners.

The congress recommended a shortening of the rushing season, which precedes the pledging of new members, and advised that entertainments should be held in chapter houses rather than at hotel and clubs. They also advocated limitation of expenditures and stricter penalties for violation of rushing rules.

Miss Rennie Smith, of New York, member of Delta Zeta, was elected treasurer, the only elective office. By rotation, Miss Louis Leonard, of Syracuse, N. Y., became president, and Miss Irma Trapp, of Kingston, N. C., secretary. Miss Leonard succeeds Dr. May Agnes Hopkins, of Dallas, as president.

taxi and managed to elude reporters.
But the reporters and the cameramen and the curious again laid siege to the Berlin love nest today and the newlyweds spent another day in enforced seclusion. As a detail in a carefully laid scheme to elude reporters, Berlin's handsome foreign-made automobile was driven up about noon and stood there with motor running, a false lead to the reporters that the Berlins were about to depart.

About 4 p. m. the newlyweds made a dash to a waiting taxi, which sped off with a train of empty taxis in its wake. The empty taxis were part of the plan to confuse reporters who were pursuing them in other cabs, but the Berlins soon were lost in the shuffle of traffic.
Conflicting statements also were issued regarding the $10,000 suite which Berlin reserved on the Leviathan, sailing tomorrow. Ship's officers said the reservation had been cancelled. At the office of the United States Lines, however, it was stated tickets had been sent to the Berlin apartment and paid for this afternoon.

Visit Suite on Leviathan.
New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Making a vain attempt to escape from their apartment without being seen, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin visited tonight the suite they have reserved on the United States liner Leviathan, which sails tomorrow.

On the eve of their expected departure for Europe, where the song composer and his bride, the former Ellen Mackay, will continue their interrupted honeymoon, Clarence H. Mackay, head of the Postal Telegraph Co., instructed a subordinate, to inform the press that his opposition to his daughter's sudden marriage was still unchanged.
While curious crowds besieged the apartment building in which they were staying, the newlyweds escaped down a back fire escape. The Berlin taxicab had a narrow escape from a serious accident when it swerved to avoid a coal truck. One of the taxicab doors hit the truck, throwing splintered glass into Mrs. Berlin's lap.

American Physician to Africa.
Panama, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Maj. William Murphy, of the United States army medical corps and who has been serving in the Panama Canal hospital, will sail for Africa immediately to care for the health of the Americans attached to the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission.

New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Anthracite miners and operators who are attempting to negotiate a new wage contract to end the long coal strike adjourned today until tomorrow afternoon without announcing any agreement.
The only official word that came from the conference room to the public was as follows:
"At today's session of the anthracite committee there was a continuation of the effort to reach an agreement. At the suggestion of the chairman an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock tomorrow."

An impression had gone abroad that the negotiators would follow custom and not sit on Saturday, but when the announcement of a session tomorrow came, immediately the question was raised whether the conferees were getting anywhere.
Refuse to Enlarge.
This was strengthened by a report that one of the miners' representatives earlier in the day had said a plan was receiving favorable consideration. Spokesman for the miners said there was no basis for such a report.
Maj. W. W. Inglis, chairman of the anthracite operators negotiating committee, and John L. Lewis, head of the miners' sub-league committee, were appealed to for an amplification of the brief official announcement. After consulting with their respective press representatives it was made known to the newspaper men that there was nothing on which to enlarge the statement.

Those to whom this announcement was made, indicated that it could be interpreted two ways, one that no progress was made and the other that the conferees did not care to divulge what had taken place in the meeting. Neither the miners nor operators volunteered any further information.
No Material Change.
From other sources, it was learned that there was no material change in the situation and that the decision to meet tomorrow was taken to avoid any impression that one side or the other was not sincerely trying to solve the serious problems at issue. There have been reports every day since the conferees resumed their meetings last Tuesday that the negotiators had come to the end of the road and that each side was merely waiting for the other to initiate a disruption of the conference.

The joint conference went into session at noon and continued until 5:45 p. m. It was the general belief that arbitration continued to be the big obstacle.
Representatives of the operators placed much importance on the agreement on legislation to restrict the use of anthracite in railroad employments and employees, which contains an arbitration provision. The coal operators have strongly urged arbitration and have not indicated a willingness to accept any plan that does not provide some form of arbitration to settle disputes. Representatives of the miners to whom the railroad agreement was shown, indicated that it did not apply to the anthracite labor dispute.

New England Organizing.
Boston, Mass., Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Definite action to teach and encourage the permanent use of anthracite was taken today by representatives of a half a hundred commercial and industrial companies in greater Boston. The meeting voted to perfect an organization to foster clubs in industrial plants and acquaint employees with practical methods for burning anthracite substitutes, especially low volatile soft coal.

Speakers, who included State officials and legislators, predicted that any future hardship in New England from a cessation of anthracite mining and declared it would bring tremendous savings to workers. The action was the development of proposals made by the New England governors' fuel committee, headed by John Hays Hammond.
Already, it was said, numerous industrial plants throughout Massachusetts and in the Connecticut valley are encouraging the use of substitute fuel.
"Nothing that the operators or miners in the anthracite fields can do will hurt us this year, and perhaps never again," said John F. O'Connell, chairman of the special committee on fuel economy of the chamber of commerce.

Club Women Retain Aid for Robert Scott
Chicago, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Attorney William Scott Stewart has been retained by the Detroit club women who employed him to save Russell Scott from the noose, to aid in the defense of Robert Scott, his brother, now believed to be confined in a California prison. Russell, now at the Chester Hospital for the Criminal Insane, also wired the attorney today, asking him to defend his brother. Robert Scott will be brought to Chicago to stand trial for the murder of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk in a robbery, the same charge upon which Russell was found guilty, as soon as he can be obtained from California authorities.

GIRL SLAVE-WIFE, 17, SAVED FROM UNCLE; SOUGHT FOR A YEAR

Letter Smuggled to Parents
Brings Rescue; Beatings

MAN, 65, IS ARRESTED;
SAID TO ADMIT CHARGE

Declares, However, That His Niece Asked Him to Take Her Away From Home.

Chicago, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Elsie Dunlevy, aged 17, of Manchester, Iowa, who disappeared from her home last February, was found today with a 65-year-old uncle, John Dunlevy, whom she accused of having held her a prisoner in an apartment.
The girl was found after her father had searched many months, through a letter smuggled out of the house and sent to Dunlevy's wife in Rochester, N. Y. The police said Dunlevy admitted the girl's accusations. He is under arrest.
The girl declared her uncle kidnapped her from her father's farm and that he beat her, threatened to kill her and would permit her to talk to no one. She was put under the care of a sister and an aunt by the police until the arrival of her parents.

Pleads for Help in Hurry.
The communication to her aunt said:
"Uncle is holding me a prisoner. He kidnapped me. Please tell father to hurry and save me before it's too late."
It later was learned that a baby girl had been born to the girl five months ago.
Reassured by the arrival of her father, Elsie sought out the story of a miserable existence as the slave wife of her 65-year-old uncle since he kidnapped her from her farm home at Manchester, Iowa, a year ago.

Father Threatens Brother.
The wrathful father shouted threats at his elder brother when the two confronted each other at police headquarters today and officers were forced to intercede to prevent a clash.
John Dunlevy, the uncle, who deserted his wife and nine children, confessed to being the father of Elsie's five-month-old child, but denied she had been kidnapped or forcibly confined in his home.
He maintained that the girl asked him to take her away from Manchester. Both the girl and her father denied the statement and police said Dunlevy would probably be turned over to the government for prosecution.

Dunlevy, by threats and beatings, frightened the child into silence which was broken until several nights ago, she told police.

DANCER MAY REFUSE TO SEE HARRY THAW
Will Decide Later, She Says;
Wouldn't Want to Be Excited.

Chicago, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Persistent reports that Harry K. Thaw, former husband of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who is slowly recovering from the effects of poison she swallowed last Tuesday in an attempt at suicide, was coming to Chicago met with little interest from the dancer. When told of the reports, she said she wasn't sure she would see Thaw, even if he came here.
"That is something I will decide when the time comes," she said. "I wouldn't want to be excited. However, we'll see."

New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Harry K. Thaw, whose sudden departure from Pittsburgh was thought to mean he was going to the bedside of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw in Chicago, arrived in New York today, and visited his physician. He made no comment on the attempt of Mrs. Thaw to end her life by taking poison, and did not indicate whether he would attempt to get into communication with her.

AMERICAN APOSTOLIC DELEGATE TO INDIA
Mgr. Mooney, Born in Maryland, Receives Honor Regarded as Vatican Precedent.

Rome, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Mgr. Edward A. Mooney, American-born prelate, formerly of Youngstown, Ohio, and now spiritual director of the North American college in Rome, has been appointed by Pope Pius as apostolic delegate to India. He will start for India about February 1, meantime being consecrated a titular archbishop.
Vatican circles consider the appointment the most important assignment of an American to an ecclesiastical post outside the United States yet made by the Holy See. In addition to being an exceptional honor, those close to the pontiff look upon the appointment as an unusual precedent. Heretofore, Italians always had been appointed to important posts of this sort, the assumption being that their position as natives of the seat of the Catholic hierarchy made them essentially neutral on international questions.
The new apostolic delegate is 43 years old. He was born at Mount Savage, Md., and studied at Baltimore.

Tuan's Retirement Notice Is Withheld

Peking, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Promulgation of Tuan Chi-jui's mandate announcing his retirement as chief executive on January 15 has been withheld pending further consideration.
Tuan's mandate said he would surrender his charge to the cabinet and cease to function as chief executive a week from today. The political difficulties of the country made its rehabilitation a greater burden than he cared to assume, he declared.
His announcement followed declarations of retirement by Marshal Feng Yu-shiang, leader of the National People's army, and Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Manchurian war lord.
Tuan became chief executive of the Peking government in November, 1924.

Filipino Imprisoned;
Insolent to Wood
Manila, Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—Antonio D. Pagua, a member of the Manila city council, was convicted today in the municipal court and sentenced to two months imprisonment on the charge of having used insolent language toward Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood in speeches in the political campaign last June. Pagua appealed to the higher court.

The complaint asserted that Pagua, speaking in Tagalog dialect, had described Wood as "a big tree without a shadow." He also called Wood a despoiler of Filipino liberty, an oppressor and autocrat.

FIRST FLIGHT IS MADE BY RS-1, BIG DIRIGIBLE

Largest Semirigid Airship in World Takes Air Amid Light Snowstorm.

Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., Jan. 8 (By A. P.)—The RS-1, the world's largest semirigid dirigible, which took the air from Scott field late today on its trial flight, made a safe landing at 6:20 p. m., after an hour's cruise in a mild snowstorm. The giant airship was christened by snowflakes as it was drawn from its hangar shortly before 5 o'clock after observers, who had been watching weather conditions closely all day, advised that conditions were favorable.

Carrying a crew of eight men and Lieut. Orval Anderson, in charge, the big bag nosed into the chilly north wind and ascended gracefully, propelled by four 300-horsepower Liberty motors. The velocity of the wind was 11 miles an hour.

The airship was headed north across the field. With darkness descending it was soon out of sight, but could be detected for several minutes after the shape of the great bag had disappeared by red and white lights in the cabin.

The dirigible circled about the field. Lieut. Anderson upon landing, reported a successful flight. The average speed was 40 miles an hour.

The RS-1 is the second largest dirigible in the United States, the Los Angeles being the largest. The RS-1 is 282 feet long and has a capacity of 755,500 cubic feet.

Col. Paegelow has announced that plans are under way for building a 237-foot steel mooring mast on the field which would be the largest in the country.

SARGENT INDICATES NO INSISTENCE MADE FOR ALUMINUM DATA

Knows of No Test on Record of Forcing Trade Body to Yield Secrets.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN ABILITY OF AIDS

Attorney General Declares Department Investigates Cases Independently.

(By the Associated Press.) Attorney General Sargent indicated yesterday to a Senate investigating committee that the Department of Justice had not undertaken to compel the Federal Trade Commission to furnish information obtained from the Aluminum Company of America, which the commission decided to hold as confidential.

Mr. Sargent was called as the first witness in the Senate inquiry as to any failure of the Justice Department to bring contempt proceedings against this company, in which Secretary Mellon is a stockholder and which was charged in 1924 by the trade commission with violations of a Federal court consent decree entered in 1912.

"Is there any way the Department of Justice can secure from the Federal Trade Commission information received from the company?" asked Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho. "I don't know," returned Mr. Sargent. "I don't think that has ever been tested out."

Walsh Reads Minutes.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, chief prosecutor in the inquiry, read into the record minutes of the Federal Trade Commission, which, he contended, showed that the commission, on a 3 to 2 vote, had decided to withhold from the Justice Department not only evidence obtained from the aluminum company in confidence, but also all information from that company.

Conceding that he had not previously examined a copy of the resolution of the commission, the Attorney General adhered to the view that whatever information was withheld was confidential, and contended that the language of the resolution itself supported his position.

Mr. Sargent was called primarily in connection with the phase of the committee's inquiry having to do with any delay in bringing contempt proceedings. He was questioned more than an hour, frequently in a sharp manner, and his examination had not been concluded when the inquiry was adjourned until today.

Confidence in Donovan.

The attorney general said he had little first-hand information as to the investigation his department is conducting with a view to possible contempt proceedings. He said the matter was in the hands of his assistant, William J. Donovan, in whom he reposed "the utmost confidence."

He explained that, since the statute of limitation had run when the Federal Trade Commission report was submitted to the department, it was necessary that the inquiry be continued to determine whether there had been violations subsequent on which court proceedings could be had.

It was his policy, he said, to have the department conduct independent investigations on all charges preferred by Federal agencies before instituting court action. Some senators construed this as an effort to ignore those agencies, but he denied this, explaining that the department had to be sure of its ground before taking a case into court.

Farm Leaders Agree On Tackling Surplus

(By the Associated Press.)

The outlook for agricultural legislation by the present Congress became clearer yesterday with an announcement by Secretary Jardine and Representative Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, a House farm bloc leader, that they were in agreement as to the most advisable means of tackling the farm surplus problem.

The Secretary specifically endorsed majority of the proposals in a bill introduced in the House by Mr. Dickinson, drafted after conferences with farming organizations, including those represented at the recent farm conference in Des Moines. The measure is designed to provide for the disposal of the exportable surpluses of corn, wheat, rice, cotton, tobacco, cattle and swine, through cooperative associations, with the aid of a special board created in the Agriculture Department.

Tobacco Companies Given Clean Bill

(By the Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission found no evidence of illegal agreements, combinations or conspiracies between the American Tobacco Co. and the Imperial Tobacco Co. in the buying and selling of tobacco during its investigation made at the request of the Senate.

The report, made public by the commission late yesterday, said no evidence had been obtained indicating that the Supreme Court decision in 1911, prohibiting the employment of common agents in the purchase of leaf tobacco in the United States, was being violated.

Claimant for Refund Held Debtor to U. S.

William H. Howell, a world war veteran, asked the government to refund to him money which he says was taken from his army pay for allotments, but which was never paid.

Comptroller General McCarl, in a decision made public yesterday, told Howell with the declaration that instead of the government owing him money, he owes the government money. "Upon review," said the decision, "there is certified due the United States the sum of $5.09. Remittance should be made to this office within 30 days."

LARGER SCOPE REJECTED BY MONOPOLY INQUIRERS

Parks Then Asks House to Direct Investigation of Rubber Prices in U. S.

"BUCK-PASSING" CHARGED

(By the Associated Press.)

Expansion of its inquiry into foreign monopolies in rubber, coffee and other raw products to include the profits made by American rubber and coffee manufacturers was disapproved yesterday by the house commerce committee.

A resolution by Representative Parks, Democrat, Arkansas, to broaden the investigation to include the American industry was rejected by the committee in executive session. A number of Democrats on the committee supported the proposal, which reflected a move already apparent among the minority to bring into the inquiry the administration's attitude toward business methods at home.

After the committee rejected his proposal, Mr. Parks introduced a similar resolution in the House and announced he would press for its consideration. It would call for an inquiry into the "means and methods of manufacture, price and distribution of automobile tires and of all rubber goods sold in the United States, and also the price, sale and distribution of coffee."

He said the resolution was designed to ascertain what part of the increased price in rubber and coffee in this country could be attributed to manipulation by the British and Brazilian governments, and charged that American manufacturers of these products were attempting to "pass the buck" for high prices.

The rubber situation also received attention at the White House yesterday, President Coolidge making clear his disapproval of any proposal for government loans for the development of American-controlled rubber plantations.

Such a suggestion was made by F. A. Sieberling, president of the Sieberling Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, before the House commerce committee. He proposed government loans to private corporations for planting at least 1,000,000 acres to rubber in the Philippines.

Hull Calls Monopolies Result of Tariff Policy

(By the Associated Press.)

Repeal of eleven provisions in the tariff law permitting imposition of penalties on countries having a nondiscriminatory tariff in excess of that imposed by the United States was proposed in a bill yesterday by Representative Hull, Democrat, Tennessee.

Describing the provisions as "discriminatory provisions," Mr. Hull, in a statement, asserted that the present "holdups" in rubber, coffee and other products by nations having monopolistic control over them resulted from the "administration's" policy of high tariffs, severe trade restrictions and discriminations.

These eleven provisions, he held, violate outright this country's "proposed policy of extending equality to all other countries and receiving equality of treatment from every country in trade affairs."

The tariff provisions attacked by Mr. Hull relate to certain classes of timber, brick, printing paper, cement, coal, gunpowder and explosives.

PRESIDENT FAVORS CHICAGO FOR GAME

Thinks Holding Army-Navy Contest There Might Be Good Plan.

(By the Associated Press.)

While President Coolidge does not know whether it would be practicable to have the Army-Navy football game played in Chicago next fall, he would be pleased if a decision should be reached to hold the contest there.

The President recognizes that a trip to the middle West would take not only members of the teams, but the students at both the Military and Naval academies, away from their studies for a greater period than is customary on the occasion of their annual gridiron clashes.

While he feels it would be impracticable to make an extended trip every year, he believes that benefit could be obtained from holding the game occasionally in the interior.

In his opinion, the question is whether army and navy officials believe too much time would be lost from studies and whether discipline would be made difficult to enforce.

Women Voters Indorse Public Welfare Bill

A resolution indorsing the original Capper-Keller bill, providing for the care of children of destitute families in their own homes by the public welfare board, was adopted at a board meeting of the District League of Women Voters in the American Association of University Women's Clubs, 1634 I street northwest, yesterday.

The question of women serving on District juries was referred to a special committee for study. At a meeting January 26, at Mount Pleasant library, all pending bills relating to the District will be discussed by league members. Mrs. Mina Van Winkle will speak on her bill providing a women's bureau for the District police department.

Lieut. Van Winkle To Quit if Bill Passes

Lieut. Mina Van Winkle, head of the woman's bureau of the Metropolitan police department, yesterday announced that she will resign if Congress passes her bill to increase the authority of her bureau. "I am no mere jobholder," she said. "As soon as my bill is passed I shall consider my work here accomplished."

WATSON INTRODUCES RAILWAY LABOR BILL

Measure Would Provide New Machinery for Settling of Disputes.

INDORSED BY PRESIDENT

(By the Associated Press.)

Legislation creating new machinery to displace the railroad labor board as an agency for settling railroad labor disputes, was introduced yesterday by Chairman Watson, of the Senate interstate commerce committee.

The measure was worked out by representatives of the railroad executives and labor organizations after a long series of conferences. It has been presented to President Coolidge, who is in sympathy with its principles.

The main provisions of the bill would establish a Federal board of mediation to be composed of five members appointed by the President with the approval of the Senate. This board would be called in where efforts at direct negotiation between the carriers and their employees had failed and where adjustment boards to be set up could not come to an agreement.

Another important feature is a provision that the right of an employee to quit work shall not be abridged and that no court of the United States or of any State could issue a process "to compel the performance by an employee of such labor or service" without his consent. Injunction proceedings have been resorted to in the past in railroad strikes.

The indictments charged they represented themselves as husband and wife. Mrs. Browning pleaded not guilty. They were held in $1,000 bail each by Federal Judge Thacher. Willen was named as correspondent in Browning's divorce suit.

Lassiter's Services Are Asked for Arica

(By the Associated Press.)

The State Department, acting presumably for President Coolidge, has made a tentative request for the services of Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, commanding the military forces in the Panama Canal Zone to relieve Gen. Pershing as head of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission.

Gen. Lassiter is holding himself in readiness to proceed to Arica immediately if it is decided that a substitute for Gen. Pershing will be named to carry on the plebiscite work during Gen. Pershing's visit to the United States for medical and dental treatment. Should such a decision be made the War Department will offer no objection to the proposed transfer of Gen. Lassiter.

District Blue Law Proposed in House

The perennial District blue law bill made its 1926 appearance in the House yesterday. Representative Langford, of Georgia, introduced a measure which would prohibit all labor, except work of charity and necessity, in the District on the "Lord's Day," commonly called Sunday.

Dance halls, theaters, bowling alleys, commercialized sports and places of public gathering where admission fees are charged directly or indirectly are specifically banned. Daily newspapers, gasoline stations, restaurants and the sale of medicines are specifically excepted.

Proceedings be taken in the matter. In all but two cases, the court found, the boats went ashore because mooring bridges chafed through of steel rings opened up under tugging pressure caused by the wind and weather. Although the service had learned to rely upon these mooring appliances, they failed, the court says, adding the recommendation that a more reliable type of boat, embodying greater power and stability, should be developed.

In detailing events preceding and following the accident, the court establishes that every reasonable precaution had been taken by those responsible for the ships, and that "no offense or serious fault was committed."

Coolidge Declines Bid To Baseball Banquet

(By the Associated Press.)

Anxious to remain in Washington as much as possible during the congressional session, Mr. Coolidge has declined definitely to decline the invitation extended him yesterday by John A. Heydler, president of the National league, to attend its golden jubilee banquet in New York, February 2.

So far as baseball goes, he intends to confine his interest in it to the playing season.

The Truth About Orange Pekoe

ORANGE PEKOE has nothing to do with oranges, nor yet is it a particular kind of tea. It is not even a certain quality of tea.

Orange Pekoe is simply an Oriental term for a size of cured tea leaf from India, Ceylon, Java or Sumatra.

Orange Pekoe from mountain grown tea bushes is superfine tea. From lowland grown bushes, it is not nearly as good as some of the larger leaf sizes from mountain grown bushes, and it can be distinctly inferior.

If you just ask for Orange Pekoe, your chances of getting specially selected tea, representative of the best to be had, are very slight. What you are more apt to get is some ordinary Orange Pekoe which has lost its fragrance through exposure.

Why not be sure of the quality of the tea you buy? Ridgways Incorporated, who sell more high grade teas than any other tea merchants in the world, offer a blended tea. It is packed in the popular ten cent package and is superior to any straight Orange Pekoe which can be bought at a popular price.

This is known as Ridgways Orange Label Tea. It combines the fragrance of Orange Pekoe with the full rich flavor of the fully matured Pekoe leaf. It is famous for its flavor.

Remember the name Ridgways—it is your guarantee of quality!

WEALTHY BROTHERS SEIZED AS LEADERS OF ALCOHOL GANG

Barber Supply Men Among 28
Now Arrested as Members of Ring.

PLANE RAID TO BREAK GUARD DEFENSE SEEN

Men in Aircraft Found Off
Atlantic City Safe, Says
Mysterious Message.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Samuel and Barney Tassel, millionaire heads of a Philadelphia barber supply house, were arrested at Philadelphia tonight on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, according to information received here. The brothers were arrested by Federal agents on indictments returned by a special Federal grand jury at Columbus last Tuesday. The men were arraigned before a United States commissioner, pleaded not guilty, and were released under $25,000 bond. Information of the arrests was received by Assistant United States Attorney Bartels, who headed the investigation of a large bootlegging ring, which, officials say, has been furnishing alcohol to Ohio, Michigan and other midwest States.

28 Men Arrested.

The grand jury returned indictments against 28 men, alleged to have been implicated in operations of the ring. All except ten have been arrested.

According to testimony before the grand jury, Philadelphia was the source of supply, operators there obtaining quantities of alcohol estimated at 10,000 gallons weekly from government warehouses by purporting to be manufacturers of hair tonic, perfumes and other products. The alcohol then was transported by automobile to Columbus, Cleveland and Detroit for further distribution.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Mysterious messages in connection with the finding of this city of a wrecked seaplane, identified today by the owner's wife, indicate that a concerted effort was contemplated to break through the coast guard defense and land liquor here, coast guard officials said.

Mrs. Charles R. Warren, of Elmhurst, N. Y., who identified the seaplane, said tonight she had received no word of the safety of her husband and his pilot, George Hand, New York city, and expressed the belief that they were lost at sea. A telephone communication, with the informant's voice and whereabouts cautiously concealed, was picked up at base No. 1 by Commander Randolph Ridgely, Jr., stating that the two men were safe. Commander Ridgely stated tonight that he had every reason to believe that Warren and Hand were picked up by rum runners, who fear the consequence of returning to shore.

ing her right leg. She was taken to Emergency hospital for treatment.

Police were stationed at five intersections last night to halt motorists whose cars were not equipped with skid chains. Each intersection was on a grade and the danger of skidding considerable. The intersections were Sixteenth street and Kalorama road, Sixteenth street and Florida, Thirteenth and Florida, Nineteenth and Florida and Connecticut avenue and Florida avenue. Despite the slippery streets, eighteen speeders were arraigned before Judge Isaac R. Pitt in traffic court last night and fined $5 and $10 each, with several exceptions.

Charles Barrett, of 1805 Belmont road, was fined $20 for speeding and $3 for failing to have his lights burning. William M. Moore, of Takoma Park, Md., was fined $10 for speeding and $20 for driving without a permit. The total fines for speeding amounted to $175.

Slayer Finally Cleared After Hiding 20 Years

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Jim Sublett is a free man today after 20 weary years of wandering about the country with a murder charge hanging over his head.

Sublett killed Joe Dillard, an old friend, with a bullet intended for another in an argument in 1905. He left the country and although a nation-wide search was instituted, he was never apprehended. The agony suffered by Sublett over the killing of his friend and the terrors of constant flight led him to surrender several weeks ago. Judge Stewart and Prosecuting Attorney Hicks, meeting with relatives and other officers, agreed to waive the charges.

Man Sings Love Song While Awaiting Death

Arizona State Prison, Florence, Ariz., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—William Lawrence, 37, of Muskogee, Okla., was hanged at 5:22 a. m. here today for the murder of a Phoenix (Ariz.) policeman.

The warden said Lawrence was the bravest man he had ever seen go to the gallows.

Before going to the death chamber, Lawrence remained in his cell, playing a guitar and singing a Spanish love song. He was 27 years of age.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Tyrus Clark, 28, slayer of L. M. Stout, Sulphur Springs banker, and Aaron Harris, negro, slayer of Deputy Sheriff Scott Streeter, were electrocuted here at daybreak this morning.

Charter for Garland Colony Disapproved

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Refusal of a charter to the April Farm association, a 200-acre cooperative colony started in the lower end of Lehigh county by Charles Garland, of Massachusetts, was recommended today by the Lehigh county court. Garland came into prominence when he refused an inheritance of $1,000,000.

"Charles Garland, the author of this scheme and the man who is furnishing the money to make it possible," said the court, "objected to any inquiry into his private life and character. Garland says he is married, but his wife is not living on the farm. * * * The evidence warrants the inference that this farm may be a refuge for unfortunate women."

The colony, at present, consists of twelve adults and three children and it was proposed to increase the membership to 50 adults and 40 children.

FLAMES SWEEP BLOCK IN BALTIMORE; 7 HURT

Three Buildings, Housing Half Dozen Plants, Wrecked;
5 Alarms Sounded.

TRAFFIC IS PARALYZED

Baltimore, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Fire, which brought out all of the apparatus in Baltimore's downtown fire zone, swept through three buildings comprising the Applefield block between Baltimore and Redwood streets, east of Howard street, tonight. The four and five story structures were occupied by half a dozen clothing and tapestry manufacturing concerns. Estimates of the loss were lacking.

The buildings, swept clean by the flames on the upper floors, were valued at $150,000. Loss on the lower floors was confined chiefly to water damage, which it was estimated might equal or exceed that from the fire.

Seven firemen were injured, none seriously. The fire was discovered on the fourth floor of the Baltimore street side of the block occupied by the American Shirt & Coat Co. It cut a straight swath through the block, and for a time threatened to leap a six-foot alleyway to five adjoining buildings in South Howard street.

Five alarms were sounded before the flames were brought under control, and street traffic in a large part of the lower downtown section of the city was paralyzed two hours.

WOOLWORTH SLUMPS ON BIG PRIVATE SALE

50,000 Shares Disposed Of for 15-Year-Old Granddaughter of Founder.

New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Sale of more than $10,000,000 worth of common stock of the F. W. Woolworth Co. owned by 15-year-old Barbara Hutton, granddaughter of the Woolworth company founder, today caused a decline of 7 3/4 points in the company's shares on the market. The sale was one of the largest private stock transactions Wall street has ever known, consisting of 50,000 shares of common stock.

The securities, which were well taken on the decline, were a part of the approximately 175,000 of Woolworth common stock inherited by Miss Hutton from her grandmother, who died in 1924. Thirty thousand shares of the stock were sold about a year ago in the open market. Both sales were approved by the surrogate court. The girl is the daughter of Franklin L. Hutton and Edna Woolworth Hutton. Her mother died several years ago.

Today's sale was made privately by two banking firms to a number of individual investors. Owing to the demand for the shares, it was necessary to make material reductions in allotments.

Britain Asks Italians To Pay $33,950,000

London, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Great Britain will ask Italy, at the negotiations opening here Monday, to pay $7,000,000 ($33,950,000) annually on her war debt of $500,000,000 ($2,425,000,000).

Such terms would be proportionate with the tentative agreement between Great Britain and France under which France is to pay $12,500,000 annually for 62 years, but in comparison would not be as lenient as the American terms to Italy. The British declared they are faced with budget deficit and that it is necessary to ask their debtors to pay an amount which will allow keeping the budget at its level.

Cardinal Mercier's Recovery Is Doubtful

Brussels, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—The advanced age of Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, makes doubtful his recovery from the effects of his operation of last week, it was said in medical circles today.

The cardinal, who is 74, continued to lose strength today owing to his inability to take nourishment. It now is reported that he also is suffering from an ulcer on the leg.

Valentino Picture Howled Off in Italy

Bergoma, Italy, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Rodolph Valentino's film "Monsieur Beaucaire" was howled off the screen in cinema theater here last night. The demonstration is attributed to the feeling aroused by the Italian actor's secret application for American citizenship. A movement to boycott Valentino's films in Rome recently brought personal orders from Premier Mussolini that they were not to be interfered with.

ARMS PARLEY UNLIKELY BEFORE NEXT WINTER

Complexity of Preparatory Problems Said to Preclude Earlier Meeting.

U. S. ENTHUSIASM SEEN

Geneva, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Officials of the League of Nations expressed the opinion today, in discussing arrangements for the meeting of the preparatory commission for the league's disarmament conference on February 15, that if all goes well the conference itself will be convoked next winter or in the spring of 1927.

It is the general belief here that the magnitude and complexity of the problems to be considered in preparation for the conference make its convocation at any earlier date unlikely.

Meanwhile opinions differ concerning the role to be played by the preparatory commission, in which the United States is now expected to participate officially. Some qualified spokesmen held that the commission will possess an importance equal to that of the conference itself, arguing that it eventually will draw up a draft convention or conventions concerning land, sea and air armaments, and that the council of the league will hesitate actually to summon the conference until agreements have so far advanced as to make success of the conference a practical certainty.

In this connection, it is emphasized that France, Italy and Japan will struggle to maintain the principle of dissociating consideration of land, naval and air armaments. However, once the principle of the unity of the disarmament question is recognized by all, many spokesmen connected with the league say they see no reason why details of naval accords in regard to sea power can not be worked out in a second naval conference at Washington.

Other officials believe that the preparatory commission only lay down governing principles and that it is the conference itself which will play the important role.

Enthusiasm which press dispatches to Europe say is being manifested in the United States in regard to the disarmament movement here, because it is believed this will spur Europe to greater efforts.

BODIES OF 5 FOUND ON APARTMENT BED

Father Kills Wife and Their 3
Children With Gift Bat;
He Dies of Gas.

New York, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Five bodies, the entire family of Thomas King, a young chauffeur, were found lying on a bed in his apartment today under circumstances that mutely outlined an unusual tragedy.

The last time the family were seen alive was Wednesday night when King returned home. Police said he found his wife talking with another man, who left. Neighbors then heard a great racket. Marks on the walls of the home showed that King pursued his wife and children from room to room. He killed them all with a baseball bat, a Christmas gift to the oldest boy from his mother. The children ranged from 1 to 5 years old, two boys and a girl.

He piled all the bodies on the bed. Taking that of the baby boy, aged one, in his arm, he lay down beside them and died of gas.

Corn Growers Ask U. S. Legislative Aid

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Legislative aid from Congress for corn growers was urged this afternoon in a resolution adopted by a committee named earlier in the day at a meeting of Iowa's committee of 50 business men and farmers named to work for rehabilitation of agriculture.

The committee received a recommendation from Gov. Hamill that creation of a Federal agricultural board be made one of the chief objects of the movement.

The governor urged that steps be taken to increase the consumption of corn products, corn sugar in particular.

COAST GUARD REQUESTS ENLARGED PERSONNEL

Deficiency Appropriation of $1,994,450 Asked to Intensify Rum War.

PROPOSE 1,000 MORE MEN

A contemplated increase in its personnel by approximately 1,000 men by April 1 for the purpose of intensifying its antirum warfare was revealed in deficiency estimates of the coast guard submitted to Congress yesterday.

The estimates call for $1,994,450 of which it is planned to use $1,235,000 for increased personnel and $500,000 for repairs to the coast guard fleet. This latter sum is in addition to $950,000 made available by the last session of Congress for repairs.

In a statement accompanying the estimates it is pointed out that the current appropriations were made for a personnel of 7,739 enlisted men when 9,369 men were needed. The average coast guard enlisted personnel from July to the end of the year was 8,473, the statement said.

The service now plans to increase its man power by easy stages. By February 1 it wants to expand to 8,819 men; by March 1 to 9,019 men, and by April 1, 9,369 men. Deficiency appropriations totaling $463,800 were also sought for the customs service.

After seeming somnolent this morning, Mount Vesuvius resumed heavy rumbling and this was followed by an increase in the flow of lava, which now covers the crater for a distance of a thousand feet a foot in depth.

The greatest flow is coming from a new cone 100 feet wide. The fiery liquid is threatening to come down the Cavallo valley at the north side of the base, which usually occurs during periods of activity. While the lava flow is violent, there have been no serious explosions.

Mount Aetna, the Sicilian volcano, had a minor eruption on January 3, but is quiet again, according to a member of the Aetna observatory staff just returned from a trip to the crater.

BACKED BY FORCE.

In his recent address on the world court, Senator Willis of Ohio, said:

Who, it is asked by some, enforces the judgments of the world court? I reply: senators, that these decisions are enforced only by an enlightened and a civilized public opinion, just as are the decisions of the court across from this chamber, a court which certainly requires neither armies nor navies to enforce its decisions.

Possibly Senator Willis has not had time recently to refresh his knowledge of constitutional law, the history of the United States, and the covenant of the league of nations. All three of these sources of knowledge controvert his statement.

The Constitution requires that the President shall take care that the laws shall be faithfully executed. It also provides that the judicial power shall be vested in the Federal courts and that this power shall extend to all laws made under the authority of the Constitution.

In 1894, in Chicago, an attempt was made to prevent the exercise of the judicial power by the Federal courts, which issued an injunction against interference with the operations of the government. President Cleveland ordered the United States army to enforce the process of the court, and it did so. In his message to Congress on December 3, 1894, Mr. Cleveland said:

It is hardly necessary to recall the fact that in obedience to the commands of the Constitution and the laws, and for the purpose of protecting the property of the United States, aiding the process of the Federal courts, and removing lawless obstructions to the performance by the government of its legitimate functions, it became necessary in various localities during the year to employ a considerable portion of the regular troops. The duty was discharged promptly, courageously and with marked discretion by the officers and men.

The judgments of the court created by the league of nations are enforced by the league, under articles 16 and 17 of the covenant. These articles provide for economic, commercial, financial and personal boycotts and if these are not sufficient the league council is required to "recommend to the several governments concerned what effective military, naval or air force the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armed forces to be used to protect the covenants of the league."

The fact that the court created by the league is backed by force is not disputed by anyone, so far as we are aware, except Senator Willis, of Ohio.

The backbone is that part of man slowly eliminated by a paternal government.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

It is a matter of serious import that the national debt December 31 last amounted to $20,248,196,638. While the debt has been reduced materially during the last four years, it does not follow that Congress or any group thereof should assume that the nation is out of the woods. The national wealth is increasing, the national annual income is increasing likewise; but twenty and a quarter billion dollars is an immense burden even for a rich country.

At the close of the civil war the total public debt in 1865 amounted to only $2,844,649,626. The national debt at the highest point after the world war was $24,479,302,000. About 20 per cent of the civil war revenue was from taxes and customs, and about 70 per cent was from loans. Of the approximately $30,000,000,000 raised to pay for America's part in the world war, about 20 per cent was raised by taxes and customs and about 80 per cent from loans.

Of the gross debt December 31, 1925, about $19,982,000,000 is interest bearing, the balance matured debt payable on demand, such as certificates of indebtedness, deposits, United States notes and demand notes. Of the interest-bearing debt, approximately $8,000,000,000 comes due during 1926 and 1927. The funds to meet these obligations must come largely from customs and direct or revenue taxes.

Receipts from ordinary sources for the first six months of the fiscal year ended December 31, 1925, were about $1,909,683,000; ordinary expenses were about $1,530,787,000, leaving a surplus of about $378,896,000, not including sinking fund (2 1/2 per cent of the bonded debt).

Credit is as essential to the government as to an individual or a corporation. The value of the government's securities, involving about $20,000,000,000, depends upon the nation's credit and its ability to pay all obligations.

Therefore it would be unwise to so far reduce taxes in the 1926 tax bill as to reduce the surplus below the point of safety to the Treasury. The effort to reduce taxes by some $450,000,000 instead of $225,000,000, as proposed in the 1926 tax reduction bill now before the Senate committee, would, if successful, result in a possible Treasury deficit. In that event the government would probably be compelled to pay a higher rate of interest on all sums borrowed.

All sums received from foreign debtor countries can not be applied to a reduction of taxes; they must be applied to reduction of the public debt. Furthermore, it would be unwise to depend too much upon these payments, especially from some countries. For some time the American people must make up their minds that Federal income from revenue taxes must be large.

If only people would pray as hard to avoid war as they pray to win one.

NIGHT PARKING WINS.

The District commissioners at their weekly board meeting yesterday wisely voted 2 to 1 against the proposed traffic regulation which would have prohibited the parking of automobiles on all streets between the hours of 1 and 8 a. m. The regulation was proposed by Traffic Director Eldridge and approved by Commissioner Fenning.

When the ban on night parking was first suggested, Commissioner Fenning invited the citizens of Washington to express their opinions as to the need of such a regulation. Many replies were received, but they were not made public, though it is understood that a preponderance of the letters condemned the proposal. What possible good could have come from keeping automobiles off the streets at a time when traffic is at its minimum? The decision against the enactment of the regulation will be generally approved.

And now if the child uses swear words they may indicate the blossoming of a great playwright.

GOV. SMITH AND THE G. O. P.

When the State organization of a great political party dominant in the nation finds itself groping about for potential weapons with which to fight the opposition it is in a bad fix. And it is in a worse fix when it has to combine all its forces in opposition to one man on the other side. This is the situation in the Republican party of New York. The State leaders have been vainly seeking some sort of issue on which they can fight Gov. Al Smith, realizing that if something is not done the great Empire State will continue to go Democratic.

The Republican chieftains naturally waited for Gov. Smith to deliver his annual message to the legislature, and now that they have listened to it, they have decided to declare war on the governor. Certain recommendations made by the governor have been picked out and marked for defeat, among them the proposal to reduce the State income tax. They claim that the executive has juggled figures so as to make it appear that the income tax reduction will be for the benefit of the people, whereas, they say, the real plan is to take $30,000,000 out of the pockets of property owners and hand $11,000,000 over to the income tax payers. There are other matters favored by the governor which are to be opposed. The Republicans are looking longingly to Charles E. Hughes and are depending upon his report as chairman of the State organization commission as a lever with which to strengthen their weakened organization.

Gov. Smith apparently is not disturbed by the efforts of the Republicans. He received from the people in the last election a mandate to put through his amendments to the State constitution, and this he proposes to do. This is a bigger and more important issue than anything the Republicans can raise.

It is a herculean task that the Republican State leaders have undertaken. It is a gigantic job to put a Democratic governor in a hole when he places before the people of his State such a doctrine as this: "The problems of government which permit of political division are very few, but, unfortunately, partisan advantage is sought by injecting politics into what should be the strictly business questions of the State, which ought really to be solved only on the basis of what is best for the State and not what is best for political parties. Nothing is more deadly to progress than to have either of the great political parties conceive it to be its duty to prevent its political opponents from achieving at the hands of the people of the State the credit that would grow from a record of progress."

Perhaps there's nothing to fear. The exposed masculine knee hasn't demoralized Scotland.

GO TO CHURCH.

The Washington Post this morning inaugurates a Saturday feature which it believes will be of real service to the people of this city and a most valuable guide to strangers within our gates. This newspaper welcomes the opportunity to promote interest in the churches of the National Capital through the new "Go to Church" page, which will appear weekly hereafter.

The Nation's Capital is very proud of its houses of worship. Every creed and every faith is represented, and each in its own way has played a prominent part in the city's civic and religious development.

Aside from the religious training, code of life and habits of thought inspired within their sacred walls, our laws, our liberties, our personal happiness and our prosperity are all dependent upon the elements of personal integrity and service the churches promote. They deserve the support of all citizens, be they churchmen or not, for no matter what the fundamental creed may be, every house of worship is a great influence in every community for all that is good and righteous.

The "Go to Church" page, which The Post presents today for the first time, contains the name, location and denomination of all churches in Washington. It will be of especial value to week-end visitors who come to Washington throughout the year; it will render a quick and accurate service for our own people.

Business men of Washington whose names appear upon that page recognize their relation to the churches and have undertaken to help make possible this page of publicity and promotion of churches for the year. They are doing this in the same spirit that thinking and philanthropic men support hospitals and educational institutions, social service and other constructive community enterprises.

The great need of the French government seems to be a tail that won't wag it.

GIVE AND TAKE.

The Federal government paid to the several States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925, in the form of payments for good roads, cooperative agricultural work, vocational education, vocational rehabilitation, maternity and infancy aid, the sum of approximately $110,250,000. The Federal taxes paid the government during the same year amounted to $2,562,923,000. New Mexico received back from the government three and a half times what it paid in Federal taxes; Nevada received back three times as much as it paid in Federal taxes; South Dakota received back one and a half times what it paid in Federal taxes; North Dakota received back 17 per cent more than it paid in Federal taxes; Wyoming received back 6 per cent more than it paid. These five States paid about $5,000,000 to the government and received back about $9,700,000 from the government.

The president of the American society of heating and ventilating engineers stated at a meeting of the society in Pittsburgh recently that "the day is not far distant when we will see huge centralized heating plants broadcasting heat to be used at far distant points, in homes, plants and office buildings." It is a pleasing prediction, but there are no indications that this dream will come true before the settlement of the anthracite strike. It will be well for consumers to supply themselves with substitutes for hard coal. The Chinese Minister found his legation short of fuel in the form of anthracite, but he is not waiting for the invention of "radio heat." Instead, he is installing a modern oil-burning plant. The lawn of the legation at Nineteenth and Vernon streets has been excavated to a depth of many feet, and workmen are placing a huge tank in the hole. It will hold upward of 2,500 gallons of fuel oil, and will assure the legation staff "all the comforts of home" while less far-seeing members of the diplomatic corps are shivering.

Lehigh Valley railroad officials have announced that after February 20 there will be no occasion to fear a fuel famine, because by that time there will be enough bituminous coal in the big centers to take care of any extra demand. This is indicated, it is said, by the return of coal cars borrowed by the bituminous-carrying lines to the local anthracite divisions. This will be comforting news to consumers of soft coal, not only because it assures an adequate supply but also because it will operate to keep down the price of coal.

No amount of preaching against smoking among women could accomplish as much as the pronouncement of a beauty doctor that continuous indulgence in cigarettes will eventually cause women to look like men. People are no longer astonished to see a man get rich quick. They just wonder where he got his sucker list.

A politician is a man who would help the debt-burdened farmer by giving him more credit.

Corn, cotton and wheat have been called king, and some punster may yet call the spud dictator.

Among the meek who inherit the earth there won't be any drivers of five-ton trucks.

There's one good thing about cubist art. It isn't suggestive. It doesn't suggest anything, not even art.

It must have been difficult for Adam to repent of a sin. There weren't any neighbors to find out about it.

The Worst Story I Have Heard Today
By Will Rogers

The Worst Story I heard today was told to me by Franklin R. Keany, President of the Marland Oil Company of California. He lives in Del Monte, Cal., and is a great friend of that wonderful old character, Col. James, who hails from the South, Sub, Memphis, and all points South. Here is an actual happening.

The earthquake in Santa Barbara destroyed a field of good sweet corn near that beautiful city. A soft water spring that was near the Rancho had also ceased to flow. A mint plant that had always been carefully tended by Dr. J. A. Crisler, also of Memphis. (But during the mint season he resided in Santa Barbara.) They had honey from their own hives of bees, right on this wonderful ranch. The bees browsed upon the California Poppy and produced great fragrance. The earthquake totally destroyed this entire well-chosen assortment of dainties. Having no spring water, they were compelled to bore for water to replace that fountain of nature. They struck no water, but there was a clear, mellow, amber fluid which had the distinct taste of Bourbon Whisky. Smelled like Mint, was sweetened with honey from the bee of the Poppy. It was a delicious Mint Julep, made better than all artificial hands could do it. It was concocted by nature.

Everything is an act of God's, and it's an ill earthquake that blows nobody some good. It is being capitalized, of course. Official Testers are Dr. Crisler and Col. Tom James. I am in charge of publicity. Sam Byrthe and Harry Leon Wilson (two promising young journalists; they both made Snappy Stories last month) are in charge of production. They were chosen on account of close adherence to the Water wagon. Then people tell you Florida will catch California. Any time we need anything out there, nature just blows it right up in our face.

PRESS COMMENT

The Patient Consumer.

Ohio State Journal: The pathetic thing about the consumer is not that he endures what is done to him, but often cheers loudly for it.

Boy or Tomboy.

Boston Transcript: From a jacket—"This is a book to delight every man or woman who was ever a boy."

What's a Psychologist?

Philadelphia Inquirer: According to a psychologist 10,000,000 of us are morons and 25,000,000 more are just plain, ordinary dumbbells. What's a psychologist?

France's Prime Ministers.

Arkansas Gazette: After a while perhaps France will employ her prime ministers on the piecework plan.

Pessimists.

Providence Journal: Those pessimists who have been saying that after a while there won't be any coal left to mine in this country must have forgotten to reckon on anthracite.

London's Hotels.

Philadelphia Record: London has caught the hotel building fever. It is announced that "a million pound hotel" is shortly to be got under way. Never before have five millions been spent in London for a hotel. This one is to be the Mayfair, and there seems to be room for it, for it is declared that there are only about 5,000 first-class hotel bedrooms in the heart of London.

Authors in Business.

Baltimore Sun: It is all right for the Paris almanac to publish the avocations of French literary men if it wants to. The public may be interested in knowing that one prominent author is an engineer, another a maker of perfumes, another a master draper, and so. But since the list is described as that of "writers who do not live by the pen alone," it is obviously a mistake to include a pig dealer. Do they raise pigs in France on bushes?

England's Unemployed.

Baltimore Sun: If anyone wants to know what unemployment means in Great Britain, he may read with interest the brief dispatch from Manchester, England, which tells how 3,000 men appeared at a factory which had advertised for six handy men. They did not look as if the manliness of the British worker had been altogether destroyed by "the dole." But a strange attitude is nevertheless manifest. The men stormed the factory when they learned that the jobs had been filled the night before, and to pacify them the management took on three more handy men. Three jobs to keep 3,000 men quiet! The success of this bit of tactics is noteworthy for its paths.

Hay Fields Passing.

Madison Courier: A specialist on soils advises a group of middle West farmers to raise less timothy hay and more potatoes. He says they can get only a moderate timothy crop, but by proper fertilization they could raise 400 bushels of potatoes to the acre.

There will soon be another good reason for discarding hay in favor of spuds almost everywhere. It is the rapidly diminishing market for hay.

Where are the city hay markets of yore? The official scales for weighing incoming farmers' hay loads have given place to filling stations. Little hay is needed any more in populous communities for

The Army of the Discontented

By GLENN FRANK

MOST of us at some time have sighed for some more challenging and exciting and socially significant undertakings than the job out of which we are making our bread and butter.

This is usually a matter of misplaced halos. It is easy to idealize the more spectacular undertakings of mankind and to underestimate the significance of the task in hand.

I reread the other day John Ruskin's essay on "The Roots of Honour." In this essay, Ruskin reminds us that the most materialistic undertakings assume vast social and spiritual significance and send a thrilling challenge to us when we once catch their real meaning.

We are likely to think the merchant's job, for instance, a rather materialistic adventure. I know merchants who regret that the throw of the dice did not make them artists or statesmen.

For this army of the discontented, I should like to recall these paragraphs from Ruskin.

"The fact is," says Ruskin, "that people have never had clearly explained to them the true functions of a merchant with respect to other people."

"Five great intellectual professions, relating to daily necessities of life, have hitherto existed—three exist necessarily, in every civilized nation:

"The soldier's profession is to defend it.
"The pastor's, to teach it.
"The physician's, to keep it in health.
"The lawyer's, to enforce justice in it.
"The merchant's, to provide for it.
"And the duty of all these men is, on due occasion, to die for it. On the occasion, namely:

"The soldier, rather than leave his post in battle.
"The physician, rather than leave his post in plague.
"The pastor, rather than teach falsehood.
"The lawyer, rather than countenance injustice.
"The merchant—What is his 'due occasion' of death?
"It is the main question for the merchant, as for all of us. For, truly, the man who does not know when to die, does not know how to live."

This, you may say, has the impractical exaltation of the idealist about it. But, a few years ago, I saw it framed over the desk of a very matter-of-fact merchant to whom it meant something very real.

At any rate, for most of us, a sense of social significance will be attained by enriching our own job rather than by escaping from it.

horses. Less hay is being fed to cattle, despite the growth of the dairy business, because of the increasing use of silage.

The smell of new mown hay may yet be only a fragrant memory, and there will be a poor substitute from the sentimental viewpoint in clover turned over for green manure. The hay field becomes the potato patch and truck farm.

Shipping Board Again.

New York World: The Shipping Board continues to give evidence of its lack of parsimony. It now wants to build two 44,500-ton liners to round out its passenger fleet. This will probably cost the Treasury something like $20,000,000 to begin with, to say nothing of later losses from operation. It has also just taken over the vessels of a private line that was losing $10,000 on every voyage and will endeavor to continue this unprofitable business at the taxpayers' expense. All of which strengthens the case for a divorce of the Shipping Board from the building and operation of ships.

A Doctor Prince.

Philadelphia Ledger: The Prince of Wales, having received the sole honorary diploma of the Ancient and Honorable Society of Apothecaries, is now licensed to practice medicine and surgery. There will always be a doctor present when he takes a tumble in the hunting field. One is reminded of the prank of the student society at Harvard which called itself the medical faculty. It conferred the degree of doctor of medicine on the czar in absentia. The highly gratified autocrat sent in return a beautifully encased set of surgical implements, which happily

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Sky Emblem of Fair Play.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is an inspiring sight these evenings to look up at the emblem of "fair play" as portrayed by the "baseball diamond" in the constellation Orion, in the east-by-south sky about 8 o'clock and after.

Baseball and fair play are synonymous terms.

This emblem of fair play is visible from Patagonia to Greenland and Iceland, and from Australia to Good Hope to the North cape, every 24 hours from August 1 to May 1.

HENRY DILL BENNER.
Washington, January 6.

Against Conscription.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Senator Shipstead's resolution to abolish conscription is a rational and logical measure.

Let all that still believe in the obsolete abominations of war shoulder arms if they want to, but the abolition of conscription would put an end to the spectacle for sardonic mirth of nations "rushing to arms" in which middle-aged stay-at-homes feel no shame in forcing their children to go out and be mutilated in their "defense."

THERESA H. RUSSELL.
Washington, January 6.

Estate Taxes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In an editorial on estate taxes in your issue of January 2, you state that South Carolina has no inheritance tax. This is in error. South Carolina has an inheritance tax and the rates run as high as 14 per cent. I might add that you can name only three States as having no inheritance tax, the three being Alabama, Florida and Nevada.

J. W. BURCH.
Washington, January 4.

Dead Men.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just been through the West. The Republicans are wondering what is the matter at Washington. They see a Democrat leading the Republicans in the Senate and drawing the party into the League of Nations through the world court. Every Republican senator who falls into this trap will be a dead man politically. OLD REPUBLICAN.

WHEN HE IS FIFTEEN.

By Motier, Friday night, November 20, 1925.

How best can I guide through the oncoming years
This manly young son, on the threshold of life?
Too well have I learned all the trials and fears,
The pitfalls and sorrows, the struggle and strife!

Keep a stiff upper lip and a smile to the last!

Yes, that for one's self, though it's hard, can be done;
But oh, the keen edge of the grief that strikes home,
When we try all in vain to do this for our son!

Alone he must learn by his will and his might

To face and to stem disappointment and pain,
With courage to hold through the thick of the fight,
And though beaten to earth, to press forward again!

Great deeds we can do when the need is supreme,
But the small daily battles are harder to win.

Son, fix not today to build nobly your dream,
For the future unfolds from the way you begin!

The Highway to Life
MILLIONS NOW LIVING WILL NEVER DIE

Not in any past ages was the Highway to Life opened up; for in all past ages men have continued to die.

The Highway to Life means what the words imply; namely, a way by which the people can get eternal life here, now.

The casting up of this highway and the gathering out of its stones is in progress before our eyes.

The way of the people, a way they have never hitherto had, is being made ready for them—the way by which they will gain everlasting life on earth.

SERVICE

"For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it."—Mat. 16:25.

THE greatest thing in the world is love, out of which springs service, the act of forgetting one's self and being considerate of others. Many go through life seeking happiness, as they would seek the bag of gold which is at the end of the rainbow, only to find that the goal for which they have been striving is a myth. Wealth, power and the things which they obtain do not bring happiness.

Many strive for one thing and then another, thinking that each in its turn will bring the contentment of mind which is their ambition. The only thing in the world that ever brings happiness is being and living in harmony with the Divine Law. Not until we bury self can the light of truth, which is the Divine Law, show us the way.

Service is the result of the overthrow of self. The church stands as a bulwark against selfishness and is aiding and assisting many in the subjugation of self that love and service may rule.

VAN DYKE BUS LINE BOUGHT BY RED STAR

Combination of Interurban
Companies Is Seen in Transaction.

Combination of interurban motor bus lines on a large scale in this section of the country was revealed yesterday when the Van Dyke line of buses, running between Washington and Baltimore, was announced to have been sold to the Red Star line.

This is the second purchase by same concern announced within a week. The earlier transfer was that of the Washington Motor Coach Co., of which Leon Arnold was head. It was reported that the Red Star line had bought the Alexandria and Barcroft buses of R. L. May, but Mr. May denied it. The Red Star line is reported to be backed by Day & Zimmerman, an engineering firm of Philadelphia, Pa., financially interested in public utilities. It is said they have been absorbing numerous interurban bus lines in the East.

Washington, Friday, January 8—8 p. m.
Forecast for the District of Columbia, and Maryland—Overcast, with light snow Saturday; Sunday fair; not much change in temperature; fresh north to west winds.

For Virginia—Overcast, with light snow or rain Saturday; Sunday fair; not much change in temperature; fresh northwest to west winds.

The disturbance that was over the northwestern Gulf of Mexico Thursday night has advanced to the North Atlantic. It will advance northward, with increasing intensity and cause strong wind and gales along and off the middle and north Atlantic coast. Another disturbance of slight intensity, so far as the middle and north Atlantic coast, is over southeastern Ohio. The southeast disturbance continues its slow eastward movement in the middle of the south Atlantic and the New England States, with center over the upper Sable Lawrence valley, and pressure is high over the plateau and Rocky mountain regions. During the last 24 hours rain has occurred in portions of the south Atlantic and east Gulf States, and snow in the Ohio valley. The Appalachian region, like lower Ohio, has the middle Atlantic States, and at widely spaced points over the interior of the west Gulf States and eastern Rocky mountain regions, temperature changes have been important.

The outlook for the night on Saturday in the Ohio valley and north portion of the middle Atlantic States, for snow on Saturday. Elsewhere the weather will be mostly fair. Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Delaware Breakwater to Boston, Mass.

NEGRO EXCLUSION ISSUE PRESENTED TO SUPREME COURT

Order Asked That Lower Tribunals Shall Not Enforce Segregation Agreements.

CASE IN WASHINGTON ARGUED BY ATTORNEYS

No Constitutional Question at Stake, Easby-Smith Says; Jurisdiction Questioned.

(By the Associated Press.)
The right of courts to enforce agreements among property owners designed to exclude negroes from their neighborhood, was argued yesterday in the Supreme Court. The controversy reached the court in an appeal from a decision of the lower Federal courts, upholding an agreement among property owners on one of the fashionable residential streets of Washington, not to sell, lease or rent their property to negroes for a period of 21 years.

Wedge for K. K. K. Program.

Mr. Marshall described the plan as the entering wedge of the Ku Klux Klan program of elimination, which, unless restrained, would eventually extend all over the country, he said, and arouse passions and hatreds "between white and black, Catholic and Protestant, Jew and non-Jew." Some form of segregation according to race, nationality or religion is already being attempted, he asserted, in St. Louis, Los Angeles, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, Baltimore, New Orleans, Kansas City, Chattanooga, Memphis and other cities.

The court was asked by Mr. Storey to quiet present racial hatreds by upholding what he contended was the inalienable right of negroes to own property, predicting that the republic would live only as long as the rights guaranteed all races and nationalities under the constitution were fully protected.

MODISH MITZI

Not What's New But What's Newest

By Jay V. Jay

This is Mitzi showing Polly and Adelaide some swatches of very new silk prints that she has acquired. She is urging them generously to have a dress made of each. She holds one in her hand behind her back that she isn't saying anything about.

Of course the girls follow Mitzi's advice. Who doesn't? Polly has at once acquired a dress with a futuristic floral effect in many, many colors. It looks like an entire flower garden. This is new.

Adelaide, too, appears in one of the new printed silks. Flowers and lines. A most charming effect and very new. The skirt is pleated and the blouse has a cape effect. This is new.

Mitzi wears a straight line dress made from a printed silk with a line and dot effect. It has short godets around the skirt. It is material especially designed to carry out the princess lines. This is newest. Well, of course, Mitzi would have it.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES McDONALD

Sixteen and Unconscious.

MY Dear Miss McDonald: I am 16 years of age, not too good looking, fair in my work in school—no flunking and no shining light. I have noticed nothing very terrible about me and yet—well I just haven't one friend. This town or even State is not my home, which is far to the South, and all my relatives and friends are there. To me there are no others like them, and sometimes when I stop to think it over, I say to myself, "Why waste my time trying to make friends with the girls up here when I have my own dear ones at home?" And yet I don't enjoy the same motionless thing to happen day after day. No friends to give little confidences to, no friend to help me along—Oh! Miss McDonald, it's no use! I can't stand it! I'm so homesick and lonesome I don't know what to do.

Yes, I joined the Y. W. C. A., but even there I'm an outcast. I've been here eight long years and haven't made a single friend. I can't see why nobody seems to want to associate with me. I waited and waited, but I get worse every day. Please, please answer this letter, Miss McDonald. You have so freely given your advice to others, won't you please help me out?

HOMESICK.

You are sixteen and haven't a single friend. I can truthfully say I have never heard of such a case in my life. But your letter explains all about it. You think always of you as a starting point and with you as the goal. In other words, you are a horribly self-centered, selfish little thing. You want friends only to "help you along." See the viewpoint? All wrong. And your mental attitude is wrong besides. You live in the past. You compare your school friends with "the dear ones" you left. And you are sixteen and have been here eight years. That means these "dear ones" were kiddies eight years old! Can't you see how upside down all your thinking is? Another thing, it is very bad for your future that you should be going along in this "shut-in" way. It is dangerous. You will become eccentric. So right now, forget the eight-year-old children you played tag with when a child and begin to enjoy the companionship of the really interesting young girls you are thrown with in school. They are every bit the equal of the girls you knew, and every bit the equal of your very important little self. So begin now to know them and to like them. Ask their help in your school work, and when they ask it offer them help. In other words, just be human. Ask your mother to allow you to have a few girls over some Saturday afternoon. Don't begin at sixteen to go through day after day of living—without knowing what it is all about. Millions of people do just that.

They get up and they go to bed, and in between they go through a few motions known as going "to work" or going "to school," and the whole thing means nothing to them. They get and they give—nothing out of all the motions. Others are absorbing happiness, radiating joy, but these automatons are only making the motions of living—and without knowing what it is all about, on one object, and that the least interesting and least worthwhile object in the world—self.

Do you see? All right, then. Begin tomorrow by smiling at the girl across the aisle, by helping the girl you have been thinking so dull. She may be a perfect genius in college, even though a bit bewildered just now. Every girl in your class is interesting. I feel sure I could find at least six that I could like immensely. And I know in no time those six would like me—just because I liked them. Try liking people. Everyone wants to be liked. And you have been liking only the children you played with when you were 8.

Begin now to accumulate friends. Get busy! Get busy! You have been unconscious long enough.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DYSPEPSIAS.

I AM firmly convinced that the main causes of functional dyspepsia may be spoken of as nervous, that is, mental and emotional overstrain and fatigue. These are the kind of things which derange the stomach. The stomach is much under the influence of the sympathetic nervous system and this nervous system is played upon by emotions of all sorts and through the nervous system these affect the stomach. I think it would be no exaggeration to say that functional dyspepsia is not primarily a disease of the stomach at all, but one of the manifestations of functional disease of the nervous system. That is why so many dyspepsias are neurasthenias.

The person who wrote this was Hutchinson, a distinguished British authority, and the extracts are from his textbook on dyspepsia. Note that he refers to functional dyspepsia due to cancer, to ulcer and to various forms of organic disease. He also recognizes dyspepsia due to gall stones and infected gall bladder, to appendicitis and to adhesions.

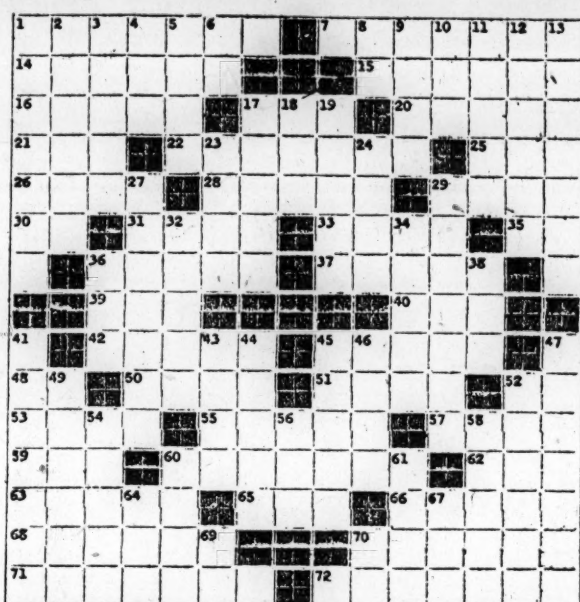

In every case of dyspepsia these causes should be sought for. When found they should be removed, if possible. If the condition is what he calls functional dyspepsia, changing occupation, learning not to worry, avoiding anxiety and fear, will do more to cure the trouble than will taking dyspepsia medicine or dieting, or even eating slowly and chewing the food well.

The same author holds about the same opinion about belching. As a rule no gas is formed in the stomach. Most of the gas in the stomach is swallowed air. He says: "It is still very widely believed, certainly by patients, and often by doctors, that wind in the stomach is the result of fermentation. This is a mistake."

Persons can be taught to eat slowly.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

EASY TO LIVE.

"I'm no philosopher," said he. "Book learning's never been my style. I've simply used my eyes to see. What's taking place here all the while. And summing all I've come to know. I'd say that paying what you owe is easy if you'll keep away from owing more than you can pay."

"If I could live my life again, I'd take no chances with my name. I would not play with fire and then expect to miss the smoke and flame. I'd never leave some sin about. For enemies to ferret out. I'd keep my little round of fun unspooled by anything I'd done."

"I'd honor women, and I'd keep my tongue away from cruel speech; I'd never sigh too much or weep. For pleasure just beyond my reach. I'd look for friendships near and far. For thick about us all they are. But this I'd learn, before life ends. Only a friendly man has friends. "This life is easy! Only fools Get loose and wander from the track. They fancy they can break the rules. And then in some way double back. But life from every man demands A little more than grasping hands. And, when they're old, men come to see How simple being loved could be."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A Little Saturday Talk

AMONG the letters I have received is one from a little girl who has spent four years in Greece. She writes: Dear Uncle Ray: I think you like to hear from me. I'm 9 years old and I'm in the fourth grade. I like school very much and I like to try and get in the fifth grade. Uncle Ray, would you like to hear about my childhood life? I was here two years last October. When I came here I couldn't speak a word of English. I came from Greece. That's near Constantinople. I was there four years, but my mother wasn't there. She was in New York. The time when I was there I stayed with my grandmother. I was born here and I went to Greece when I was 3 years old. From your friend, ELLEN PETRIDES.

This letter is of special interest to us because we have so recently been talking about ancient Greece. I think that Ellen is doing splendidly at school, since she had to learn English after her return to this country.

It would please me to hear from other readers of the Corner who have visited, or have lived in, foreign countries. When you write, tell about some of the things you saw.

John Adamski, age 12, writes: "I would like to know where the following were found, and when: (1) Stone Age; (2) Copper Age; (3) Bronze Age; and (4) Iron Age." The ages of which you speak are periods in history, John. The oldest period was the Stone Age, and it is believed to have lasted many times as long as the other ages put together. During the Stone Age, people used tools and weapons made from stone, bone and wood. Stone tools were the most common. Scientists tell us that the Stone Age began more than 100,000 years ago. Some savage tribes have been found in modern times using stone tools. Most Indian tribes were living in the Stone Age when the white men came to America.

People in Egypt and Babylonia began to use copper tools seven or eight thousand years ago. That was the time of the Copper Age in Egypt and Babylonia. People in western Europe did not enter the Copper Age until several thousand years later.

The Bronze Age was the time when people melted copper and tin together to make stronger axes, knives, spearheads and so on. The mixture of copper and tin made bronze. No definite dates can be given for the Bronze Age. It turned into the Iron Age when men learned to smelt iron ore and to use iron for the making of tools. This age doubtless began in ancient Egypt or Babylonia.

In later times people learned to make steel from iron. We now live in what may be called the Age of Steel and Electricity.

I wish to thank the many boys and girls who have written to me. If you would like to send a letter, do not hesitate to do so. I enjoy every letter, and I try to answer questions in the order they reach me.

Police Marksmanship Lowers Robbery Rate

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Down here in the shadow of the old Alamo, folks generally and the police in particular have a reputation for being quick on the draw and quicker on the trigger. But San Antonio, with a population of more than 200,000 and a police department of 193, has not had a major robbery in five years.

The remarkable absence of gunmen, safe blowers and others of that sort of the population is accredited to the fact that there are 25 men on the force who are expert pistol shots. The whole force, including the marksmanship medal-winning Chief T. O. Miller, engage in pistol practice at regular intervals.

THE HOUSEKEEPER

By NANCY CAREY.

WE are, most of us, probably about to set forth on our Saturday shopping expedition, and this time, I trust, with a carefully planned list in hand. We have ventured, so far, but the short space of a week on our journey into the new year and those of us who have made no new resolution in connection with the duties of the kitchen will, I hope, join us now in our effort to make 1926 an epoch in thrift and efficiency with a minimum of unnecessary expenditure. Thrift is not a matter of dollars, but of cents and yet thrift and petty economy are widely separated. Thrift may call for extensive rather than meager provisioning, as the case may be, but always and forever thrift calls for diligent and conscientious planning in the small things as well as the great. I have yet to discover a housekeeper who, with haphazard methods, was capable of operating a thrifty or efficient kitchen.

So let us begin this second week of our new year systematically planning in advance, and watch the pennies that are saved become dollars. The Woolworth building was built, you know, with 5 and 10 cent pieces.

Some of us, as I know from numerous letters from our readers, are following the day-to-day menu and will be looking today for the receipts for using the last of the stuffing, green peppers, and for those who did not have the pot roast or have none left, remnants of steak, or cold roasts, or a small piece of ham will do equally well. And may I add right here that somehow a line was omitted on Thursday with regard to the cooking of steak Espanol. It must cook one and a quarter hours in a moderate oven.

I am going to give you a menu for Sunday as well as for Saturday, and in buying your roast of beef it is an economy to buy at least a 4½-pound roast. Monday it may be served cold and on Tuesday I shall give you a delicious way of preparing it en casserole.

May I suggest that you cut from the paper such things as salad dressings and sauces and frostings for cakes, for they are often used with more than one dish. And will you remember, too, that we are anxious to hear from you and want your criticism and suggestions.

MENU—SATURDAY.

Cream of Pea Soup
Celery Crackers
Stuffed Peppers
Escalloped Potatoes
Dressed Watercress
Crackers Cheese Coffee

SUNDAY.

Consomme Soup
Celery
Rib Roast of Beef
Pan Roasted Potatoes
Creamed White Onions
Banana Whip
Coffee
Stuffed Peppers.

Select one large green pepper for each member of your family, wash and cut enough away at stem end to permit stuffing. Place in a mixing bowl the following: To every four peppers, 1 cup ground meat, ½ cup cooked rice, ½ cup cooked carrots, one onion which has been sliced and fried in a piece of butter the size of an egg, a few sprigs of parsley and a clove of garlic which has been chopped to a pulp if desired. Add salt and pepper to taste and mix in one unbeaten egg. Fill the peppers and place a slice of lemon on top of each one. Pop up in a deep baking dish, cover each with a strip of bacon, put a half or a quarter cup of water (depending on size of dish) in the bottom and bake slowly 40 minutes. If a new piece of ham is used it must be boiled until tender and ground.

Pea Soup.

To a can of pea soup add an equal quantity of rich milk, salt and pepper and one frankfurter which has been skinned and cut in small pieces.

Cream Sauce for Onions.

Rub two tablespoons of flour into two of melted butter, add a few grains of pepper, ¼ teaspoonful of salt and one cup of milk. The sauce must be poured over the onions, which have been boiled in salted water until tender, just before serving.

Escalloped Potatoes.

Place a layer of sliced raw potatoes in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, dot with butter. Repeat until dish is filled. Pour in hot milk until it may be seen through the top layer and bake an hour and a quarter or until the potatoes are soft.

Banana Whip.

Crush six bananas and beat in three tablespoons of sugar. Fold in the beaten whites of two eggs and put into sherbet glasses with several small pieces of pineapple in the bottom of each. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

Canned consomme soup may be satisfactorily used and served with slices of lemon. Remember to cook your roast just fourteen minutes to the pound unless you wish it well done, then fifteen to sixteen. And for your watercress use the French dressing recipe I gave you for lettuce supreme, without the cheese.

Cantilever Bridge, 87 Years Old, Closed

Lancaster, Ky., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—The State highway commission has closed the longest single span wooden cantilever bridge, a romantic landmark across the Kentucky river.

A steel or concrete structure soon will make a memory of one of the few remaining covered bridges. Located just beyond Camp Nelson on the Lookout Mountain Airline highway, it was built in 1838. Only lately when heavy buses began to cross the 240-foot span were there pronounced vibrations.

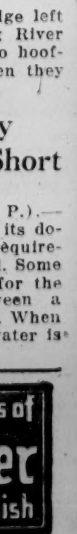

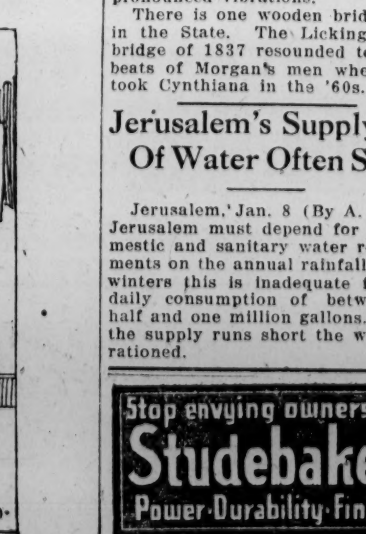

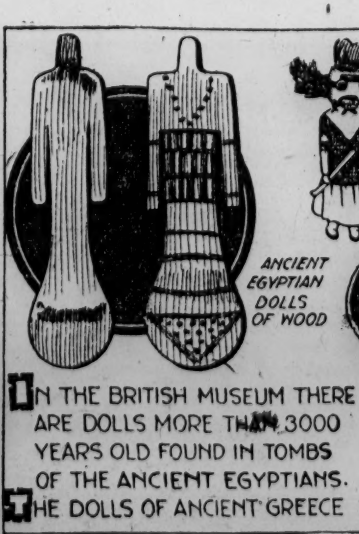

There is one wooden bridge left in the State. The Licking River bridge of 1837 resounded to hoofbeats of Morgan's men when they took Cynthia in the '60s.

Jerusalem's Supply Of Water Often Short

Jerusalem, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Jerusalem must depend for its domestic and sanitary water requirements on the annual rainfall. Some winters this is inadequate for the daily consumption of between a half and one million gallons. When the supply runs short the water is rationed.

INSTITUTE HEADS MEET

By F. W. PATTERSON.
Cooperating with the department of business practice of the local high schools a number of bankers will give talks on the theory of banking and banking fundamentals at the schools on a regularly scheduled basis throughout the month beginning Monday.

For several years the American Bankers Association, through its educational committee, has been cooperating with the school authorities throughout the country in telling the students what the bank's use is, and what its value is to the community, as well as setting forth what relation the students bear to the banks and what their attitude should be toward them. However, this is the first year that local school authorities have joined in the movement, which it is hoped will result in the so-called "banking week" in the District schools each year.

Under the plans as outlined by A. L. Howard, of the department of business practice of the high schools, speakers will address the pupils for about 25 minutes and then answer questions for 10 minutes, the usual study period being 40 minutes.

Francis G. Addison, Jr., president of the District Bankers association, has appointed the following bankers as speakers who will visit the schools indicated on the dates set forth:

R. E. Harris, manager, southwest branch American Security & Trust Co., Jefferson Junior High school, January 11; H. P. White, northeast branch, American Security & Trust Co., Hines Junior High school, January 12; Harry W. Haynes, president of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank and chairman of the Washington Clearing House association, Western high school, January 13; H. W. Ireland, central branch, American Security & Trust Co., Charles D. Boyer high school, H. P. McKim, president, National Capital Bank, Eastern high school; Wilmer J. Walker, vice president, Federal-American National Bank, Western high school.

Speakers at the schools at which they will appear for which no dates have yet been set are: George O. Watson, president, Liberty National Bank, Business High school; Victor B. Dwyer, president, Second National Bank, Powell Junior High school; Charles D. Boyer, cashier, Federal-American National Bank, Langley Junior High school.

Merchants Transfer Files.
Dealing on the Washington Stock Exchange took on a more lively hue yesterday with trading held to the utilities and one or two of the trading favorites.

Potomac Electric Power preferred again featured the market, moving up to higher ground in selling at 107 3/8. Washington Railway & Electric preferred was strong at 91 1/2, but easing off to close at 91. Capital Traction Co. sold to the extent of 19 shares at 105, when "asked" went up 1/2 point and bid at 104 1/2, no further dealing in the shares was recorded. Washington Gas Light Co. sold at 73 1/2 on a turnover of a 4-share lot, but gained 1/2 on following sales and closed the day at 73 3/4.

Merchants Transfer & Storage Co. was in good demand and opening point up at 115 maintained that level through to close of session. National Mortgage & Investment preferred returned to 9 1/2 on a 10-share turnover, but parted with the 1/2 on turnover of 100 shares, which changed hands at 9. Lanston Monotype was firm, selling at 84.

Bond activities were restricted to transactions in Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone 5s at 100 1/2, Washington Gas Light 5s at 99 1/2 and the 6s at 101 1/2. Potomac Electric Power preferred 5s at par and Washington Railway & Electric consolidated 4s at 80.

Banking Institute Heads Meet.
The board of governors of Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, met last night for discussion of the progress of the year's work accomplished thus far and to carry on the program of activities to be carried on up to the close of the year in June.

Perhaps the greatest accomplishments of the year have been the enrollment of 150 new members in the chapter, bringing the membership to 300. For all time, and the work of the educational committee in its rearrangement of the study courses, but more particularly the addition of a course in public speaking. This latter feature, conducted by Dale Carnegie, has been instrumental in bringing together many institute graduates and local bankers.

SCHOOL FIVES START TITLE HUNT TODAY AT ARCADE

Andy Smith's 2 Golfers Tie Death Blow For Lead On Coast

California U. Coach Al Espinosa, Frazer Pneumonia Victim at Philadelphia.

His Teams Undeatead During Stretch of Five Years. Cooper Also Among Foremost in Field Numbering 220.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—"Andy" Smith today passed on to join that shadowy host of one-time American football stars. The all-American fullback of 1904 and head coach of the University of California football team died at 6 o'clock this morning at Pennsylvania University hospital, of pulmonary ulcers which followed an attack of pneumonia. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from a local undertaking establishment.

Definite announcement of the place of interment will not be made until the arrival of Robert M. Smith, of Kansas City, a brother and only immediate relative, but it is thought that burial will be made at DuBois, Pa., Smith's birthplace, where his father and mother are buried. Robert Smith was expected to arrive late tonight or early tomorrow.

Andrew Latham Smith, to give his full name, was 43 years old, and was regarded as one of the greatest football players ever produced at the University of Pennsylvania. He had been head coach at the University of California since 1915, and since 1920 had been producing championship teams.

He came here from California to attend the Pennsylvania-Cornell game on Thanksgiving day, and two days later went to New York to witness the Army-Navy contest. Exposure brought on a severe cold which later developed into pneumonia.

Three weeks ago he was removed from his hotel here to the University hospital, under the care of Dr. Robert G. Torrey, a teammate of his.

HARRY COOPER found company with Frank Walsh, of Appleton, Wis., and Joe Kirkwood, New York, in cards of 70. Kirkwood, the famous golf trick shot player, did the even performance of making each hole in par.

Dallas Jeffers of Riverside, Calif., played great golf today and in the eyes of his enthusiastic followers was really almost in the class with Espinosa and Frazer, for he went over the famous north course in 71 one under par for that course.

Others with cards of 71, but for the south course, were Ed Gayer, Chicago; John J. McHugh, San CORINTHIAN ATHLETIC CLUB TEAMS HAVE HELD A PROMINENT PLACE IN DISTRICT SANDLOT AND INDEPENDENT ATHLETICS over a number of seasons. Originally organized as a midget class club, the Corinthians have entered junior as well as midget teams in baseball, football and basketball circles for the past two years. The teams have been managed and coached by Walter J. Newman, the idol of his charges. The junior five, which has already made a deep impression in its class, is pictured below with Manager Newman. In inset, in the top row, left to right, are E. Cross, J. O'Donnell, J. O'Keefe and E. Nealon. R. Seebold is below. The team makes its headquarters in the Immaculate Conception gymnasium.

Catholic U. Faces Gallaudet, G. W. Meets Hopkins Tonight

By JUNO KINERK. DISTRICT court fans will have the opportunity of witnessing two local college basketball teams in action tonight. The George Washington five will entertain Johns Hopkins in its own gymnasium, and Catholic U. will play host to Gallaudet on the Brookland floor.

Daunted by its defeat at the hands of Princeton Wednesday, the Hatchettes will take the floor tonight intent upon handing the Hopkins team a tasty walloping. The Hatchettes probably will take the floor tonight with Hill and Brown as forwards, Kendall at center, and Capt. Wallace and Banton as guards. These five men have been showing good form and are working together well in perfecting team play. Capt. Wallace gave a fine individual exhibition at Princeton and the other players also showed much promise. Wheeler, Shreiber, Sapp, Levin, Davis and Allshouse are reserve players who will more than likely get into action before the game is over, especially if the locals hop off into the lead.

Since the resumption of school early this week, Coach Rice has been sending his Catholic U. players through their workouts at a steady clip. There has been a noticeable improvement in the passing and shooting, particularly in that of the veteran squad. The Sophomore quintet has been showing its customary ability and zip too, which presages no good for Gallaudet.

The game with the Kendall Greens will serve Coach Rice a double purpose. In addition to giving the team the benefit of a good contest with outside competition, it will enable Rice to get a line on all of his men for selecting the players whom he will send to New York for the four games with Gotham opponents next week.

Fordham, Crescent A. C., Manhattan college and City college are the quartet of opponents facing the Brooklanders next week, to be played on successive nights beginning Wednesday. All of them are known to have strong clubs this year and the C. U. mentor is anxious for his men to make an impressive showing against them. It is not unlikely that the Sophomore five composed of Harvey, Long, Carney, O'Donnell and Foley will bear the brunt of play in these games, but the vets, Kenny, Garvin, O'Dea, Bailey and McIntyre also will see much action.

In tonight's game Rice probably will use the two combinations alternately. The Kendall Greens should furnish them a good workout, but can hardly hope for a victory.

Tilden Is Easy Victor In Exhibitions Here

William T. Tilden 2d undoubtedly the best tennis player in the world today, who is making his stage debut here this week at the Shubert Belasco theater in "The Kid Himself," entertained the large and enthusiastic gallery which braved the wintry winds and snow on the municipal courts yesterday afternoon.

"Big Bill" won all of his matches. In singles he defeated Paul Hing a set, 6-4 and then trimmed District champion Tom Mangan two straight, 6-3 and 6-1. Paired with Harding in doubles, the champ had little trouble winning a set from Mangan and Hing at 6-2.

Cleveland Fighter Loses Delaney Bout

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—John Risko, Cleveland heavyweight boxer, will carry out his agreement to box Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, here January 14, despite an offer to meet Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., in New York on January 12, he announced today.

A representative for Tex Rickard sought Risko's release from the Indianapolis date, but Joseph Goldstein, local matchmaker, refused. Risko said he hoped to meet Delaney in New York at a later date.

SUSPENDED FOR FOULS. Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Sully Montgomery, former Centre college football player, and Terry McHugh, New York featherweight boxer, are under 30 days suspensions and their purses held up for fouling last Wednesday night in bouts on a Los Angeles fight card.

RUTH TO GOLF. Golf will replace gymnasium routine for Babe Ruth next month. He plans to play 34 holes daily on the Palm and Florida.

Lucien Vinez, French Boxer, Proves Easy Mark for Terris

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Sid Terris, East Side New Yorker, beat Lucien Vinez, the French lightweight, in a poor fight of ten rounds in the new Garden tonight. The Frenchman stayed in his shell and refused to lead except on rare occasions and when he did the crowd booed him. Terris could not do much with him.

It was a miserable exhibition by comparison with the great contest in the semifinal between Joe Glick and Danny Kramer, which was won by Glick, and it was a bitter slugging affair. Terris weighed 133½ pounds and Vinez scaled 134 even. The referee was Johnny McEvoy.

THE crowd figured close to 12,000 before the Terris-Vinez fight started, but thousands walked out long before the main bout had traveled six rounds. Terris rocked the Frenchman with rights whenever he could get close enough to him. When Terris got the decision the crowd put on an extra round of boos for Vinez chiefly.

Luis Vientini, South American lightweight champion, proved to be a horrible disappointment in the first of the three ten-rounders. Harry Felix, of the East Side, simply made a monkey out of Luis from the first round to the last. The bout left some hundreds of fans wondering what has happened to this once brilliant Chilean. A year ago he was being discussed as a logical opponent for Benny Leonard and as the probable successor to Benny as the lightweight champion of the world.

Danny Kramer, of Philadelphia, and Joe Glick, of Williamsburgh, stepped into the ten-round semifinal and proceeded to "make up very rapidly for the shortcomings of the previous bout. The way they waded into each other in the opening session was something to watch. Glick weighed 129 and Kramer 127½. Kramer had all the better of the first round, when it seemed that his southpaw stance was puzzling the Williamsburgh boy. Danny hooked many a solid left-hand to Joe's stomach and jaw, but the latter kept storming in.

In the fifth, which had the crowd in a highly elated state from going to gong, Danny's lower lip was gashed, and this seemed to bother him considerably. Still he fought back with lots of aggressiveness, and once during this hectic period he actually had the lanky Williamsburgh boy on the run.

Glick came back in the seventh and shook Danny up with hard right hooks to the heart and an occasional left cross to the chin. He CHAIRMAN JAMES A. FARLEY said Walker was told to appear before the commission in "two or three weeks" for another "examination" after which the boy might be lifted, but Ames said after the meeting that Commissioner Muldoon had informed him it would take three or four months for Walker's toe to heal sufficiently for him to fight in New York State.

Eastern-Tech Clash in Opener

Business and Western Scheduled; Games Start at 10 A. M.

Guyon's Team Favored to Win; Others Are Untried.

By WALTER HAIGHT. DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL basketball teams will start their annual pilgrimage toward the championship today in a double-header booked to get under way at 10 o'clock in the spacious Arcade auditorium, Fourteenth street and Park road northwest.

"Charlie" Guyon's Eastern five will take the floor against McKinley Tech in the opening game, leaving the action in the second contest to the representatives of Western and Business.

Central's team, winner of the title for the past two seasons, will reserve its debut until Tuesday when Western will be encountered. Eastern will enter its game with the uncertain Tech five on the long end of any available odds. While the Manual Trainers have at times exhibited a high caliber of the court game, other appearances have lowered their rank in the minds of those who must dope the annual series.

On the other hand, Eastern is being credited with having one of the best combinations in this section, which is being touted as the most formidable foe of Central, the favorite to repeat for the championship.

Angus Heeke, giant forward, and "Julie" Radice, compact guard, are being counted upon to do the majority of the point-getting for the Lincoln Parkers. Although Scruggs and Madigan have been showing improved scoring eyes during the last few games.

Eastern employs the "cut for the basket" style on which Heeke has been a consistent scoring medium. Radice plays a roving guard and has dropped in his share of baskets in every preliminary game.

The recent shift of Werber to center for Tech, the result of the advisory marks, has brought Clango into the lineup as a running-mate of Councillor, the latter one of the outstanding players of the 1924 series. This combination worked to advantage against Devitt Prep earlier in the week and may surprise.

NEW RULES IN TURF UPSETS DOPE, SAYS COLLYER

Expert Gives Lubeck as Best Bet

Riders Should Figure in Day's Selections, Is Advice.

Arady Stands Out on Form to Capture Fourth.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

DOWN at New Orleans, where one or two races would seem to indicate the riders should be furnished with oars rather than whips, anglers well to "look a little bit out." The fourth this afternoon is a splendid place for a little "business." ARCADY, on an recent form, stands out, but no one accepts DAZZLER's last race very seriously. BRILLIANT will have the incompetent Barassa in the saddle, while MORNING CLOUD, on all form, does not seem to be good enough to beat the first two. But, as previously indicated, anything is likely to happen on the Bayou.

For the opening spasm a most unyielding field is named. Of the lot, if he goes, LUBECK has a decided call. He showed a bang up second last time. NOEL is also well packed. It was my understanding the N. D. sign was well displayed the last time. Put the old tab on BRISON, if he's nervous—go get yourself a summer home. The third looks like WILD ANTOR. He is in rare fettle and only needs to race back to that last winning effort to come home on the chin strap. T. S. JORDAN is fast and loves the gumbo. The weight will not bother him. NETTIE SWEEP has an outside chance to spoil the frioles. She is in extra good form and a superior mudder. Old ARABIAN, which has been in the hands of the undertaker, is finally dropped in where the string can be taken off the old kale sack. He stands out there in the KING TUT, which was the hottest kind of an overnight tip. His recent morning trials have been excellent.

For the sixth I'm going to hand you a real live one in OPEN FIRE. Now too much gab has been known to spoil the coup. Yewekum! GEORGE DE MAR is the logical choice, with TEA TRAY next in order.

For the closing spasm I am bringing with BARRISTER, on which there was a tremendous tonight play. A good-sized combination is also entered on the Pittsburgh. DUCKLING, G. S. R. RALPH and GYPSY FLYER are closely bunched, and riding luck should play a mighty prominent part.

In this respect I suggest you select riders of the old type for today. The going will be rough, and a boy will have to hold his mount together to get the best results. More anon.

U. S. GOLF BODY PLANS EXTIRPATION OF LINKS WORMS

Cooperation Sought in West

Dept. of Agriculture Experts Advance Methods.

Acid Lead Arsenate Doesn't Harm Grass; Eradicates Grubs.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (By A. P.).—Death to worms and life to grass formed the text of discussion at the annual meeting today of the United States Golf association, delegates listening to experts in eradication and cultivation. The business sessions open tomorrow.

Although for every one of the millions of golfers there must be a decision made of grass, play would become ideal only by the extirpation of at least a quarter of the slugs and earthworms, speakers from the Federal Department of Agriculture and in the employment of the association, said.

After O. B. Pitts, of the U. S. G. A., an experiment station, had told how grass could be grown by proper dressing with compost and fertilization with ammonia, E. R. Leach, of the Department of Agriculture, related experiments in poisoning the soil for a depth of 4 inches to kill off the grubs and worms.

EXPERIMENTS were made in various plots with acid lead arsenate, which was mixed with the soil. Grubs and worms which swallow soil with their forage of grass roots could not live in this mixture, but grass grew in it, especially the bent varieties.

Plots of unpoisoned soil alongside these experimental grounds remained full of the pests. The toxic earth had kept the worms out for three years already and might prove effective for several more years.

The practice has been to sprinkle the turf with carbon bisulphide for slugs and with mercury bichloride for angle worms, but the treatment has to be repeated frequently, and any overuse kills the grass.

The cost of the new method is comparatively small for material, but required rebuilding of putting greens at present. The experts are now seeking a method of working the poison into the greens without rebuilding.

W. A. ALEXANDER, of Chicago, one of the pioneers in golf, urged greater efforts toward better golf links and accused the U. S. G. A. of failing to enlist the support of the West properly in the work, although golf was growing faster in the West than on the Atlantic coast.

Mrs. G. A. Farley, of Cleveland, announced the opening of a correspondence school for green keepers for the U. S. G. A. and the agriculture experts, abetted this plan, asserting that the average man in charge of the upkeep of course was not capable of handling the work intelligently.

"Champions" Past and Present

By JOE ARCHIBALD

ADD Max Carey, captain of Pittsburgh Pirates, 1925 world's champions, to the long list of series heroes! Carey's work throughout the seven games sensational. In the last and deciding game, Max crashed out six bases to three in five times at bat, and raised his total for six bases to three in five times.

Carey is one of the oldest vets that roam the outfields of major league diamonds, but, like the Ty Cobb, he scoffs at Father Time. "Old Man" Carey led his team in 1905, and he was appointed freshman coach in the fall of 1905 and the following season was assistant coach. He succeeded Sol Metzger, the former St. Louis captain, who had charge of the university team for several seasons.

Smith also coached the 1910, 1911 and 1912 Red and Blue varsity teams. After the close of the 1912 season, Andy took up the coaching reins at Purdue university in 1913 and remained until the close of the 1915 season. Smith raised the standards of Purdue's football and the teams won six, lost four and tied one conference games.

Johnnie Starnes, then graduate manager of California, took Smith to the coast.

California's big fall sport then was rugby. Andy soon interested the Berkeley students in American college football and his coaching fundamentals into his coaching of the 1916, 1917 and 1918, started to turn out real teams.

His Golden Bears have gained nationwide fame. In 1920 he developed one of the greatest eleven in the country and his team defeated Ohio State in a postseason game at Berkeley, 20 to 0.

UNDER Smith's coaching California did not lose a game for five seasons, although being tied several times. The long consecutive record was broken last fall by the Olympic club of San Francisco, and the University of Washington, and Stanford also won from Smith's Bears.

He was recently offered a new four-year contract by California calling for $12,500 a season, which he declined to sign.

Chicago, Jan. 8 (A. P.).—Andy Smith, California's football coach, who died in Philadelphia today, was well known in "big ten" football circles. First, as a coach at Purdue, and later when his wonder team of 1920 ran over Ohio State, "big ten" champions of that year, at Pasadena. It was this team that attracted the attention of football critics to the game as played on the Pacific coast, and showed that players of all-American caliber were being developed there.

Latham Smith was born in 1869 in Abol, Ohio. He attended Pennsylvania State college, where he played in the varsity basketball field in 1901, and then transferred to Pennsylvania.

After playing fullback on the Red and Blue varsity in 1903 and 1904 and being selected an all-American the latter season, Smith graduated in the spring of 1905. He was appointed freshman coach in the fall of 1905 and the following season was assistant coach.

He succeeded Sol Metzger, the former St. Louis captain, who had charge of the university team for several seasons.

Smith also coached the 1910, 1911 and 1912 Red and Blue varsity teams. After the close of the 1912 season, Andy took up the coaching reins at Purdue university in 1913 and remained until the close of the 1915 season.

Smith raised the standards of Purdue's football and the teams won six, lost four and tied one conference games.

Johnnie Starnes, then graduate manager of California, took Smith to the coast.

California's big fall sport then was rugby. Andy soon interested the Berkeley students in American college football and his coaching fundamentals into his coaching of the 1916, 1917 and 1918, started to turn out real teams.

Baby's face and back

covered with eczema

Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5: "I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recom-

ended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep a jar of Resinol in my home." (Signed) Mrs.

L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach and into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

BROOKLAND SEEKS IMPROVED SCHOOL FACILITIES AT ONCE

Michigan Park Citizens Join in Demand for Relief of Congestion.

240 MORE CHILDREN THAN CAPACITY, REPORT

Faulkner Declares Section Can Not Await Five-Year Program's Operation.

In an effort to relieve crowded conditions at Brookland school, the Michigan Park and Brookland Citizens associations jointly have instituted a campaign for a new school in that section.

Robert R. Faulkner, president of the Michigan Park Citizens association, declared yesterday that Brookland school is overcrowded by 240 children, and not by 150 as has been reported. The condition drives the teachers to unusual shifts, he said. The only way that the surplus children can be taken care of, he said, is to have a part of them come to school in the morning and others come in their place in the afternoon. He declared that it would be most impractical to wait on the five-year building program, since under that arrangement it is only provided that a site for a school building shall be purchased in 5 years. At that rate, he declared, it would be 10 years before a school would be built.

Therefore the citizens of these sections have combined to gather and present data before the board of education in the hope of convincing them of their need, he said. He declared that a map will be drafted, and complete information as to the distribution of the children, and conditions that exist, will be presented before the board in as short a time as possible.

By resorting to this, it is hoped to have the matter considered this spring, and a school furnished by next fall, he declared.

Some Walk 2 Miles.

The situation is further aggravated, Mr. Faulkner said, by the lack of proper transportation facilities. In the proposal for the new school a location is requested, he said, which would be nearer to those children who have to walk great distances. He declared that some of the children have to walk as far as 2 miles.

The crowded condition at the school exists, he said, in spite of the fact that temporary "relief" schools are being used on the same site.

Mr. Faulkner declared that the lack of school facilities is retarding the development of the northeast in a section which is growing more rapidly than any other part of the city. The growth is natural, he declared, and an effort should be made to relieve the situation. He said:

"The situation is unique. The residents for the most part have growing families, and families are moving in all the time, in proportion as the homes are being built."

"In the next three years there will perhaps be 500 additional families in this immediate vicinity, with how many children it would be hard to tell. Thus the folly of waiting years for a school can be easily seen. Something must be done now."

CAPITAL LACKS MUSIC PRIDE, DIRECTOR SAYS

Ruby Smith Stahl Asserts City Does Not Support Local Talent.

Washington is sorely lacking in civic pride when it comes to music, Ruby Smith Stahl, local concert director, declared yesterday. Musicians from other cities, she said, draw greater support and patronage in this city than do local musicians, although the latter have just as much talent.

As a result of the apathy here, Miss Stahl said, many gifted persons have abandoned their musical careers for business. Washington, she said, might well follow the lead of Philadelphia, where there is a Civic Music league, whose sole purpose is to foster interest in local talent.

Only Washington artists will appear at the eighth vespers concert to be given tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the First Congregational church under the direction of Miss Stahl. The singers will be Mary Sherler Bowie, Richie McLean, J. F. M. Bowie and J. E. S. Kinless.

Dull Life of Moslem Women Is Described

Mohammedan high-born women have the dullest time in the world, according to Mrs. Harriet Chambers Adams, who spoke before the National Geographic society last night at the new Masonic temple.

The chief diversion of these women, according to Mrs. Adams, is going to the cemeteries on Fridays, taking with them their children and servants. There they remain all day, feeding the birds with crumbs in the hope that the tidbits will be carried to celestial friends. The working women are a little better off, she said, because they have a chance to go to the market once in awhile.

40 PUPILS ARE HELD DIPHTHERIA CARRIERS

Children of Garnett and Patterson Schools Are Put in Quarantine.

Steps taken within the last few days to prevent spread of diphtheria among pupils of the Garnett and Patterson schools and a group of portable classrooms connected with them were revealed yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer.

Three cases of diphtheria were reported among colored children attending these schools. The first developed in the Christmas vacation. The others originated since school reopened.

Cultures from the pupils have been examined and more than 40 pupils were quarantined as diphtheria carriers. Dr. Fowler emphasized that none of these was ill. Bacteria causing diphtheria were found in their throats. They will be permitted to resume attendance at class as soon as their throats clear up. No new diphtheria cases were found, he said, and the carriers were isolated to prevent spread of the disease.

Eight additional deaths from pneumonia were reported, bringing the total since the first of the year to 27. Eighteen new cases were reported.

Civil Suit in Lumber Case Will Be Pushed

All of these defendants were acquitted. The government's suit in equity demands an accounting for lumber sold by the defendants and charges a shortage of $1,500,000.

CIVIL SERVICE BODY AGAIN UNDER FIRE BY HEAD OF LEAGUE

Dr. Stowell Accuses Commission of Furnishing Only "Benevolent Publicity."

SENATOR SMOOT ALSO INCLUDED IN ATTACK

Information Involving Some Federal Departments Withheld, He Asserts.

Dr. Ellery C. Stowell, president of the Civil Service league, reiterated his attack upon the civil service commission and Senator Reed Smoot last night, after William C. Deming, president of the civil service commission, had defended that body's refusal to furnish Dr. Stowell with certain information.

Emphasizing the fact, in addition, that Senator Smoot and every other member of the legislature should be stopped from interfering with the executive functioning of the government, Dr. Stowell accused the civil service commission of furnishing only "benevolent publicity."

Benevolent publicity, he said, was the display of great solicitude in putting forth information so long as it did not involve some one of the government departments in an unpleasant controversy. This, he said in answer to Mr. Deming's declaration that "the commission has consistently followed a policy of utmost publicity in all matters which may be with propriety made public." Dr. Stowell's request for the names and places of appointment of each employe of the bureau of efficiency was not such information, and was refused as such, he said.

"Seek to Avoid Trouble." "Their purpose seems to be to avoid trouble with a coordinate branch of the government," Dr. Stowell said in reply to this. He declared that the commission could not rely on its plea that to furnish the information asked for would be too burdensome a task, and that the same information would have to be followed in every subsequent similar situation. No valid reason for refusing the information has yet been given, he said.

"The commission's discretionary policy on the question of whether inspection of its records should be promiscuously allowed is strictly in accord with the opinions of the Attorney General, and has been consistently followed by the commission throughout its history," Mr. Deming said, in part of his statement defending his bureau's position.
